TRACK WALKER AVERTS TRAGIC CATASTROPHE

Quartette's Ringleader Is Committed to Jone; Three Are Released

Inspired by "movie thrillers" with a desire to see a train wreck in real life, Paul Gomez, 16, of Anaheim, and three younger companions, threw a switch ahead of a fast passenger train on the Santa Fe between Anaheim and Fullerton, they told Juvenile Judge R. Y. Williams today. The court ordered Gomez committed to the Preston school of industry at Jone.

The three younger lads, the eldest of whom was 13, appeared to have been instructed and urged on by the older boy. They were released by the court.

The incident, which through a mere accident failed to result in a terrible tragedy, was said to have occurred several weeks ago at a point where the railway line passes near the Anaheim sugar factory. All of the young Mexican boys involved live in that quarter.

Wanted to See Wreck
"We wanted to see what a real wreck was like," one of them told the court, stating that "the movies" were responsible for this desire.

"Didn't you know that hundreds of people might be killed?" he was asked.

"Oh yes, we knew that," was the reply.

Gomez taught the other boys how to pry open the switch lock, by giving it a deft kick with the heel of his shoe, they said. They unlocked the switch and then all four retired to a point of observation to prepare for the spectacle. Passenger train No. 26 was due to pass that point ten minutes later, they knew.

Saves Train
Juan Hernandez, Mexican track walker, saved the train. Passing the group of boys on his "speeder," Hernandez became suspicious of their actions.
A short distance ahead, he decided to go back and see what they were doing. He found that the switch had been turned after he had passed.

Santa Fe Detective Fred Johnson was called into the case to investigate and after more or less difficulty and time had been expended succeeded in ferreting out the culprits.

Gomez previously spent two years at Whittier state school, it was learned, and is said to have, since his release, been involved in a worthless check affair, which was not prosecuted.

Thieves with the ability to measure chickens came into the line-light here today, when E. O. Bailey of Stanton, reported to the sheriff's office that thirty-five of his Rhode Island red hens and roosters were stolen noiselessly last night. Bailey heard no commotion during the night he said. He saw wagon tracks near the chicken pens, however.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Senator
Trammell, Florida, today attacked Commissioner Aitchison of the interstate commerce commission in a speech charging that Aitchison had "used his good offices to obtain a freight rate reduction for the lumber interests of the West and to defeat a similar reduction for the lumber interests of the South."

Predicts U. S. Facing Wheat Shortage Unless Farmers Aided

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A tariff duty of at least sixty-five cents per hundred pounds on flour should be levied by congress to protect American wheat flour producers and millers, Senator Ladd, North Dakota, representing the agricultural bloc, told the senate finance committee today. This represented an increase of fifteen cents a hundred pounds over the rate proposed in the pending tariff bill.

Ladd said that until something is done to aid the wheat farmer, within five years the wheat crops in the United States will no more than meet domestic needs and in ten years it will be necessary to import wheat.

ENVOYS WILL PUT TEETH IN NAVAL TREATY

Threat of Force To Be Contained In Document Now Under Preparation In Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—
The arms conference treaty for limitation of naval armament, now being framed, will carry with it an implied threat of force.

This threat will be called into action in event of war among the five powers "inside" the treaty or in case one or more of these powers become involved in strife with a nation "outside" the treaty.

Japan will soon announce her refusal to have the validity of the famous twenty-one demands to China passed upon by the Washington conference.

This announcement probably will be made at the meeting today of the Far Eastern committee of the conference by Admiral Baron Kato, chief of the Japanese delegation.

If the conference should insist on passing on the twenty-one demands, there is admitted little chance for settlement of the Shantung question.

Row Over Debt Ends In Death Of Cattle Man

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 5.—
Harry Bruner, 43, Cedar Rapids, Ia., a trader for Jacobs brothers and the Kansas City stockyards, was killed and two bystanders seriously wounded in a shooting affray on the crowded floor of the stock exchange today.

Frank Thompson, a speculator, fired the shots during an argument over a speculation debt, it was reported to the police.

Thompson fired five shots.
W. B. Hall, livestock agent for the Burlington railroad, was seriously injured by the fourth shot.

A. Drachos, livestock agent for the Missouri Pacific, was hit by the fifth shot. His home is in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

NOTED PILOT DIES
SANTA FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Captain J. J. Shea, for the last 15 years a bar pilot at the Port of San Francisco and one of the best known ship captains on the coast, died here today.

Grass Only Food of Russians In Former Prosperous State

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Typhus is adding its terrors to those of starvation in the Kazan republic, J. R. Childs, of the American relief administration, reported in a cable received here today. The need for medical supplies and clothing is great and only a comparatively small sum is available for this purpose, Childs said.

KAZAN, Russia, Dec. 15.—A republic is dying of starvation.

The prophecy of death to come, made last fall, is being fulfilled with terrible completeness today on the lonely frozen steppes of Eastern Russia.

Fifty per cent of the babies in the Kazan republic already have died.

SLAIN AS AUTO BANDITS MAKE
$12,000 HAUL

United Press Leased Wire
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—James Stoeffel, president of the Maywood State bank, was murdered today, and two others wounded by five bank robbers who escaped with a $12,000 pay roll.

Stoeffel, James Venson, cashier of the bank, James Sweeney, police chief of Maywood and Ralph Hunt, an agent for the American Can company, had just left the bank with the payroll for the Can company when the bandits opened fire from an automobile.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME OF ELKS IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Jan. 5.—The new $175-000 Elks home here was threatened by fire late yesterday afternoon when flames were discovered eating their way through the ceiling over the kitchen. The fire department responded and cut a hole six feet in diameter in the ceiling before being able to turn a stream of water on the flames. Damage to the amount of $500, due principally to smoke, resulted, according to an announcement by the department today.

Wilcox to Lead Poly Grid Team In 1922 Season

Elwayne (Eenie) Wilcox, student at Santa Ana high school, class of 1923, quarterback on last year's championship eleven, and unanimous choice for the position for all-Southern honors, was this noon elected captain of the Poly team for the coming season.

The election came as a surprise as it was not expected that the squad would get together until after the monograms had been awarded next Monday.

The choice did not come as a surprise, as it was felt that Wilcox was the logical choice for the honor. The little pilot played a stellar game at quarterback throughout the season, and was chosen by all critics to lead the mythical eleven of the Southland. He has played on the Poly team for three years, and is regarded as one of the fastest and most heady grid-sters who ever donned high school moleskins hereabouts.

Wilcox is 18 years of age and weighs only 126 pounds. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilcox, 615 West Second street, and is regarded as one of the most popular students in the high school.

Hint Plot to Block Ships
Taking Supplies to Russia

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Reports that American shipping interests and the shipping board are interfering with immediate shipment to Russia of the $20,000,000 worth of American grain provided by congress will be sifted in the senate.

Senator Borah today asked in the open senate whether it was true that the shipping board had refused to permit Herbert Hoover to use shipping board vessels to transport the grain.

Thirty shipping board vessels today were turned over to the American relief administration to carry to Russia, America's gift of $20,000,000 worth of wheat and seed grain, Secretary Hoover announced.

The government ships were obtained when independent American ship operators were apparently attempting to profiteer in transporting these shipments.

ARREST ACCUSER ON CHARGE OF KEEPING CONFISCATED LIQUOR

The accuser suddenly became the accused today, with the arrest of Darwin Grimes, 29, of 712 East Fifth street, a driver for the Crown state lines, who was held by the local police for the federal authorities in Los Angeles.

The arrest of Grimes, who is himself a complaining witness against two negroes, Eddie Brooks and E. D. Woods, will not interfere, it was stated today, with the prosecution of the negroes, whose trial on a charge of assaulting Grimes with a deadly weapon, is to be set tomorrow in the superior court.

Grimes, who was an officer in the immigration service at San Juan Capistrano at the time of the alleged offense, is charged with a violation of section 71 of the penal code in that he retained for his own use a portion of 30 gallons of liquor seized by him and Frank Stanley and Elliott Hunter, from a machine searched by them in the performance of their duty.

He is also charged with a violation of the national prohibition laws in having possession of three gallons of liquor.
Thomas F. Green, assistant to the United States district attorney at Los Angeles, had been working on the case, and the warrant for Grimes' arrest was sworn out December 29 at that office.
Grimes will probably be arraigned next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.
Motorcycle Officer H. D.
Jaynes arrested Grimes at 7:10
p. m. yesterday as the latter stepped off of a stage arriving from Long Beach. Grimes was a passenger on the stage, having been disabled as a driver in the recent attack upon him by the negroes at Fullerton, where he received a broken arm and severe knife wounds on the face.

Police Chiefs Disagree Over Results of Prohibition Laws

Chief Flanagan of Bridgeport, Conn., reports that crime, drunk-ness and the number of arrests have decreased ever since the town went dry.

In Chicago, Chief Fitzmorris announces a general decrease in all things wrong, but suggests the police may deserve the credit for this. Lincoln, Nebraska, police report a purer atmosphere, but Des Moines and Norfolk, Va., have found crime and drunkenness on the increase.

The reports show that in several large cities crime increased within the past two years while in five it was reported to be bane.

In six drunkenness decreased while in seven it was the other way.

Premiers Clash On Question of Germany's Debt

BY WEBB MILLER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CANNES, France, Jan. 5.—What Germany is to pay and when and how, was discussed in preliminary pouarpours of the supreme council conference today. Strong differences of opinion between the British and French with the Belgians disagreeing with both, developed.

Lloyd George and Premier Briand reached an agreement that Germany must make substantial cash payments in January and February.
They were unable to agree concerning August payments, or on the order of procedure at the forthcoming conference. The matter of a program was today placed in the hands of experts.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Lloyd George, at Cannes, has agreed to a Franco-British defensive alliance proposed by Premier Briand, provided France will meet Britain's requirements as to disarmament, the correspondent of L'Intransigeant declared today.
France, according to L'Intransigeant, will be required to agree to partial land disarmament, total naval disarmament and the suppression of submarines.

Thief Nitro Blast At Famed Church Blocked By Watchman

Leaving a quantity of nitro-glycerine sufficient to destroy the entire building and abandoning loot that they had already gathered, four burglars escaped early today amid a hail of bullets after being foiled in an attempt to blow the safe at the historic mission of San Juan Capistrano. Frightened away by a watchman, the burglars abandoned, together with the explosive, a grip filled with silverware gathered from the mission dining room.

Suspicion pointed today to four visitors at the mission who appeared about 10 o'clock in the morning and asked permission to take photographs with a small camera. They scrutinized the interior of the mission closely, it was said.

According to the description given to Sheriff C. E. Jackson, three of the men were of heavy build, from 23 to 27 years of age. They all wore caps, dark coats and khaki trousers and leggings. The fourth man was tall and slender, about 35 or 40 years of age. He wore a dark suit and cap.

The watchman was attracted by a noise at about 2:30 a. m. and found two men stealthily working at the door leading into a curio room where valuable relics are kept. They had,
it was later discovered, gained entrance to the mission by using a crowbar to pry the cement away from beneath the chapel door. Another door had been opened by boring a hole above the lock.

The two burglars fled at the watchman's approach. The latter fired several shots in pursuing them from the building, but apparently failed to score a hit.

While his attention was diverted,
one or possibly two other burglars, the exact number not being ascertained, descended a stairway and made their escape in another direction. They had been on an upper floor preparing to blow the safe in the study of the mission padre, it was indicated by the finding of a small bottle of nitro-glycerine and a quantity of powder held in the top of a fruit jar.

Nearly was the grip filled with silver knives, forks and spoons, a silver tea set and other table ware which had been spread on the dining table in preparation for a dinner planned for today at the mission.

The burglary attempt was reported immediately to the sheriff's office and Under Sheriff E. E. French and Deputy R. L. Ballard went to San Juan Capistrano to investigate.

NEW RAILWAY AGENT IS VISITOR IN S. A.

R. C. Horner, of Los Angeles, traveling passenger agent of the Santa Fe, was in Santa Ana today, being introduced by F. T. Smith, Santa Fe agent here. Horner was appointed to the position he holds, January 1. His territory includes all of Orange county above San Juan Capistrano and the Santa Fe line into Pasadena. His work includes cooperation with local agents in development of passenger business. Horner said that the Santa Fe expects heavy west bound traffic during January and February.

receive applications for 1922 automobile licenses from all automobile owners, regardless of their having membership in the club. County branch offices are located in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton.

Defeat for Anglo-Irish Pact Looms as Foes Gain Strength

Crippled Dog Finds Many Homes Also Gets Wooden Leg

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—
"Whitey," three legged black and white, said to be the most worthless dog in the city pound, had plenty of homes today.

Yesterday a San Francisco paper published his picture asking "who'll give Whitey a home?"

Sixty telephone offers of homes had been received at the pound before 7 p. m.
Today the newspaper's mail contained dozens of written offers.

And an artificial limb manufacturer called to measure
Whitey for a wooden leg.

PLAN TO QUIZ NEWBERRY IN SENATE PROBE

Bitter Fight Looms As Michigan
Senator Ready To Defend Self Against Accusers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Democratic and Republican senators today joined in a demand in the open senate that Senator Newberry submit himself to questioning by his colleagues when he appears before the senate in his own defense.

Senator Spencer, Newberry's defense "manager," refused to grant a request that Newberry be given unlimited time to make his defense and reply to cross-examination.

Senator Pat Harrison, Mississippi, Democrat, brought the matter up by stating he understood Newberry was to address the senate Monday. As a time limit of one hour will be in force then, Harrison asked unanimous consent that no such limitations be imposed on Newberry.

Marine Private Sells Fleet to Chinese Rebels?

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Discovery that the American Asiatic fleet had been sold to Chinese revolutionists for $100,000, (Mex.) started of-

Hoppe, U. S. M. C.

According to word from Hong Kong, demand for the delivery of the fleet has been made upon the marine corps there, by a Chinese rebel who held Hoppe's receipt for $1,000, the first payment on the purchase price.

ALIENIST AIMS BLOW AT BURCH ATTORNEYS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Dr. Thomas J. Orison, alienist for the prosecution today stated in the Arthur C.
Burch trial that he thought Burch's attorneys were trying to "railroad" the accused man to the state asylum.
Dr. Orison's remark came as an answer to a question on cross-examination from Paul Schenck, chief attorney for the man on trial for the alleged killing of J. Belton Kennedy.

The alienist testified that he thought Burch was absolutely sane and had come to this conclusion after numerous talks with the defendant.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, SET AS DINNER DATE

With utter disregard of superstitious fear Charles F. Heil, manager of the Excelsior creamery, today announced that the dinner in honor of Orange county football players and coaches will be given at St. Ann's Inn at 6:30 p. m., Friday, the thirteenth.

According to announcement coaches from University of Southern California, Occidental, Pomona, Technical, Whittier and California Regional institute will be present.

Each squad will occupy a table, and novel features of entertainment are assured.

Dail met this afternoon and Harry Boland, Irish envoy to Washington, arrived and took his seat.

When the session was resumed, it was believed that opponents of the treaty had gained considerable strength. J. J. Walsh, one of the treaty's supporters, predicted flatly it would be defeated "as the position stands
today."

The interest in this afternoon's session was at fever heat.
It was not known before the meeting started whether a compromise would be reached or whether De Valera intended to force a showdown.

The Dail took a recess shortly after the morning session opened to avoid the greatest crisis with which it has yet been faced.

HIT STORY OF FRANCE SLAYING

Deny Charge Major Opie Shot Down Soldiers In Argonne Forest

San Francisco Vet Tells of Alleged Murder of Sergeant In France

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—
Major H. L. Opie, Staunton, Va., broke down and wept bitterly today as he denied in detail the charges lodged against him by former privates of the A. E. F. that he killed a runner and shot down in cold blood Walker Woolwine, Winchester,
Va., in a shell hole.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Six former privates who served in France under Major H. L. Opie of Staunton, Va., took the stand before the senate committee this afternoon and pronounced him innocent of charges that he shot down two American soldiers in the Argonne Forest.

Witness after witness branded the charges as utterly unfounded. Several said they were with Opie practically all the time on the days he is alleged to have shot the men, and that such acts by him could not have been possible without their knowledge.

Charles F. Cox, Lynchburg, Va., testified that he was near Opie at all times on October 8 and 9, 1918, that he did not see Opie "fire a shot at anybody."

Howard Fifer, Staunton, Va., said that on October 8 he saw Opie fire several shots into the air to stop a group of stragglers.

"He did not aim at the soldiers," Fifer said, "and no one fell."

Dr. Frederick Vashrough, of Garfield, N. J., gave similar testimony.

Rev. John Hill, Baltimore, former lieutenant colonel, said he investigated Opie's conduct at the front to see if it warranted his being decorated for valor.

Major Opie then took the stand in his own defense.

I never shot a man in my life except an enemy of the United States," Opie cried dramatically.

Opie faced the committee and pounded his fist on the table as he entered denial of the charges.

Says Charges False.
"These accusations come from diseased minds," he declared. "There is not an iota of truth in them."

Opie admitted he fired a rifle on October 8, 1918, to stop a retreat but said he shot behind the men.

The finger of accusation was pointed at Major Opie today when Lemuel C. Smith of Dublin, Va., testified he and three other soldiers entered a dug out in the Argonne in October, 1918, just in time to see Opie shoot and kill "Bill" Woolwine of Bradford, Va., an army runner.

"I've killed him, take him out," Opie commanded, according to the witness.

Major Opie sat close to Smith as the latter testified. Opie's eyes were riveted on the witness.

Collins, Ellison and Askew, named as witnesses of the killing by Smith, took the stand and denied they saw the alleged shooting.

"I knew Smith, but was never with him in France," Ellison said. "I never saw Opie shoot a man."

Edward Dunner, of 18 Market street, San Francisco, testified he saw John Fitzgerald, a Pennsylvania soldier shot down by a sergeant named Cooper in a prison camp at Bassens, France.

Bares Alleged Slaying.
"Fitzgerald got back in the mess

CITY ENGINEER SUBMITS COSTS IN DEFENSE

An average engineering and inspection charge of 2.32 per cent for work done by the engineering department of the city for the year 1921 is shown in a report by W. W. Hoy, city engineer, submitted to the city council and on file today with the city clerk. Comparing this engineering cost with assessment district work done in Riverside, he shows a cost of 17 per cent on one job and 5.50 per cent on another.

The data has been submitted by the engineer in defense of his office against reported charges by citizens that costs of his office have been excessive. The complaints are said to have been partly responsible for a decision by the city council at a conference last Saturday afternoon to ask for Hoy's resignation, to become effective February 1. Hoy has been officially advised of the action.

The total amount of contract work during the year has been about $315,000, says Hoy in his report, the average engineering cost being 2.32 per cent.

Silent as to Resignation.

Hoy received a salary of $2000 from the city and by keeping account of full time employed in engineering work on contract jobs and charged against the jobs, he reduced the annual cost to the city for his personal service to $745.37, or $62.11 a month, according to his report.

In addition to this there is a charge of $1196.27 against the city for various items of work done by the office.

Concerning the request for his resignation, Hoy today would say nothing.

"I have nothing to say today," said Hoy. "I am perfectly satisfied to let the costs of my office stand against the same office in any city of equal size. Comparison will show that inspection and engineering costs here have been less than in many of the other cities of Southern California."

After recapitulating various items of work during the year, Hoy's report closes with the following:

Submits Cost Report

"In view of the complaint that the cost of engineering and inspection was excessive and unreasonable in the city on contract work and unjust to ask property holders to pay such cost, I wish to submit the following figures on the work covered by 1921:

With selection today of Joe Burke, United States district attorney for the Southern California district, as toastmaster, the program for the complimentary banquet by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to the high school football teams was nearly complete today.

There will be no program of long addresses and spot speakers of the teams will be given opportunity to extend themselves.

The dinner will be at 6:30 tomorrow evening at St. Ann's Inn.

The following are expected to be present:

Chamber of Commerce directors: Alex Brownridge, Charles F. Smith, J. H. Scout, Charles D. Swanner, E. E. Vincent, L. G. Swales and Secretary J. C. Metzger.

Board of education members—

L. Andrews, J. L. McBride, J. Dick Wilson and H. C. Dawes.

High school faculty members—

A. Crumston, D. K. Hammond, W. M. Clayton.

Football players, officers and coaches—Howard Cook (Captain), Harold Knight, Donald Williams, Elwyn Wilcox, Earl Jabs, Newton Stark, Hubert Armstrong, Ted Coffman, Colvin Bell, Harry LeBar, Everett Best, Elliott Best, Newell Cravath, David Metz, Roland Stillens, Newell Stevens, Wilbur Pippis, Howard McDonald, Samuel Miller, Albert Sheats, Tommy Watts, Roy LeBar, Carl Black, Walton Finn, Donald Wasser, Buxton Brownson; Joseph Smith, manager; Francis Selway, assistant manager; Marvin Morrison, coach; Ed Covington, coach first team; Jack Remsburg, coach second team; Ray Adkinson, coach of 130-pound team, and Lynn Crawford, coach of 110-pound team.

FIND MISSING TRUCK AFTER CHARGE FILED

An attempt to apprehend A. Post, who is thought to be in Arizona, and against whom a complaint charging the theft of a truck had been filed by S. E. Talbert, of Talbert, will probably be abandoned, inasmuch as the truck was found in this city early today.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson today expressed doubt that Post could be successfully prosecuted. There was sufficient doubt, he indicated, to make the expense of an arrest and trial inadvisable.

Talbert, in his complaint, charged that he had loaned the Ford truck to Post December 26 for the purpose of moving Post's family and household effects to Orange. Post promised to return the truck at 4 p. m. that day, Talbert claimed.

The truck not being returned and Talbert hearing that Post had been seen with the truck at Coachella on December 30, traveling eastward with his wife and two children, the theft charge was filed.

I wish to call attention to following report from the city engineer of Riverside:

"Assessment District No. 515, sewer work $978.00; contract, engineering and inspection, 17.00 per cent. "Assessment district No. 205, curb and gutter contract $9,222.25; engineering and inspection, 5.50 per cent. "Assessment district No. 437, paving work contract $915.00; engineering and inspection 5 per cent. "Assessment district No. 201, concrete paving contract $35,495.14; engineering and inspection, 6.72 per cent.

"These figures are taken at random from their records and were all done under proceedings.

"The report from Los Angeles is that such work runs from 4 per cent to 9 per cent.

"The state highway has always allowed 10 per cent on estimates for engineering and inspection.

"In view of these costs for engineering and inspection, I feel that work in Santa Ana has been done at a very low cost."

RELEASE YOUTH WHO WAS ACCUSED BY GIRL

Pete Magano, 17, of this city, was at liberty today, the district attorney's office having dismissed a statutory charge that had been filed against him in complaint of an 18-year-old girl.

The motion was made by Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley late yesterday when Magano appeared before Justice J. B. Cox for a preliminary hearing. Circumstances surrounding the case failed to substantiate the charge, it was stated.

LONG BEACH POLICE HOLD MISSING GIRLS

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of two Orange county girls was partially cleared today when Sheriff C. E. Jackson was informed that Long Beach authorities had taken the young women into custody.

The girls were Grace Viola Chandler, 17, of West Anaheim, and Virginia Sieber, 14, of Olatida. Miss Chandler, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Chandler, was last seen in this county last Friday. According to her father, who is a ranch foreman, Miss Chandler left her home, in company with three girl companions, for the purpose of visiting a young woman friend near the Orange county hospital.

Returning from this visit, Miss Chandler accompanied the other girls upon a walk down the state highway. When her companions left her, for the purpose of continuing their walk to Orange, Miss Chandler proceeded alone on her way home. She never reached her home, the father reported, and great alarm was felt for her safety. Miss Chandler was a quiet, home-loving girl, Chandler said, and seldom left her home without telling her parents her plans.

Miss Sieber, the adopted daughter of an Olatida family, was reported missing when she failed to return to her home after attending church services last Sunday.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES LICENSE COLLECTION

City Police Commissioner J. W. Tubbs, and Special Police Officer W. E. Bates were in conference this afternoon checking over a list of business men who are delinquent in their license fees for the last two quarters of 1921.

Tubbs was authorized by the city council last night to take legal steps to collect the fees, if persons liable for them are still in business. He announced that he would see that definite steps were taken, and, if possible, complaints would be filed today.

Bates has been making a special investigation of delinquents. He reports that less than twenty-five have responded to notices sent to 200 individuals and firms.

Tubbs announced his intention of having complaints issued against one delinquent in each of six or seven classifications in which delinquents are listed.

$488,326 SPENT BY PORT BOARD DURING 1921

Expenditures of $488,326.18 were made during the year 1921 by the Orange county harbor commission in its task of developing Newport harbor, according to the annual report of the harbor commission filed today with the county clerk by Lew H. Wallace, of Newport Beach, secretary of the commission.

Starting the year with $500,000 to its credit, the commission finished with a balance of $11,673.82, the report showed.

Dredging was the largest expense incurred, the sum of $248,802.53 being paid out on contract with the Los Angeles Dredging company. This represents approximately half of the total expenditures. Nearly another fourth was expended on contracts with W. M. Ledbetter for constructing rock jetties, the sum being $116,854.53.

Freight charges on rock was the third largest item on the list of expenditures. This amounted to $61,090.33. Rights of way and the commission's share in bridge construction accounted for $22,000 and engineering costs were $14,006.15. The commission's salary and expenses during the year came to $6,651.15.

URGES BRANCH BANK FOR U. S. IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Use of $500,000,000 of the United States treasury's gold reserve to establish a European branch of the federal reserve bank was advocated today in a speech to the senate by Senator Owen, Democrat, Oklahoma.

Mr. Ashby Turner
235 Spurgeon Bldg.

I suggest the following as the most suitable name for your new addition to Santa Ana:

Signed

Address

Ashby Turner, Owner

235 Spurgeon Bldg.

I am opening up for home-builders, a wonderful new tract in the southeast part of Santa Ana. This tract is ideally located for the building of pleasant homes and is going to be one of the most attractive sections of the city. There are 10 acres in all, situated between Orange Avenue and Oak street. Beverly Place runs through it. The Pacific Electric runs through the east side and the motor stage lines pass just west of the west side. The improvements are the best of any addition to the city and the lighting system is very elaborate.

I realize the importance of having a suitable name for this fine tract. To be sure that the name is right I am asking everybody for a suggestion. To the person giving the best suggestion I will pay immediately Twenty-Five Dollars in Cash. Go see the tract if you want to. That will give you a better idea as to the proper name to suggest. But--send in your suggestion quickly--before 5 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 10.

MARKET REPORTS

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—After further recoveries during the first hours trading on the New York stock exchange today, selling again appeared and many stocks were driven to new lows on the current decline. This time there was no news to account for the selling.
In fact, call money returned again to four per cent after renewing at five per cent but this constructive factor was not needed. With the exception of Wednesday, when the same rate prevailed, this is the lowest figure for call money since the middle of November.
As a group the oils were hardest hit.
General Asphalt broke about five points and there was also heavy selling of Texas company and Pacific Oil. Motors all were hurt by the passing of the general motors common dividend.
Rubber shares, however, held up well.
Kelly Springfield failed to reach the low price of Wednesday. Sugar was strong early in the day, with American Sugar common crossing 60. This stock sold off rather sharply, however, in the final dealings.Bonds maintained a steady tone despite the selling of stock. Liberty bonds in particular gave a good account of themselves. Foreign exchanges were off.The market closed irregular.
Closing prices included:

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Some improvement in freighting was reported by several dealers today.
Onions were very firm, some dealers asking as high as seven cents for white globes out of storage.
Sweet potatoes were slightly firmer and an occasional four cent price was heard on best sweets. Green peas and beans are not selling well on account of the poor quality arriving from the south. Growers are disheartened because of the unfavorable weather attending the harvest of these crops.

Lemons were somewhat easier, prices ranging about 25c lower on fancy special packs.
Supplies liberal: Apples, grapefruit, oranges, bananas, lemons, pears.
Supplies light: Blank.CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Prices were generally lower today on the Chicago Board of Trade. Demand from shorts in the corn and oats market was less active than the previous session and there was quite a little commission house selling. There was little activity in wheat. Provisions were irregu-

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks any Cold in a Few Hours

Instant Relief! Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks any cold right up. The first dose opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages of head; stops nose running; relieves headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing. "Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance. Tastes nice. Contains no quinine. Insist upon Pape's.—Adv.

JOHNSON HOLDS TREATY LINKS U. S. TO JAPS

United Press Leased Wire
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—California today believed Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who was a leader in the fight against the League of Nations, would take a similar position in battling in the senate against ratification of the quadruple alliance.

Johnson, in a statement made public today, declared that in consideration of the alliance the real question is:

"Shall the United States either jointly with Great Britain and France or separately, guarantee or underwrite Japan?"

He charged that the treaty means that the United States is bound to defend the Japanese mainland.

He urged that the treaty be "narrowly scrutinized" before accepting "what may involve our country in unknown difficulties and dangers." He emphasized that the treaty was the product of "secret" meetings.

JOHNSON'S STAND ON PACT MEANS TROUBLE FOR LODGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Senator Hiram Johnson's union with other of the "original irreconcilables" in opposition to the four-power Pacific pact in its present form means added difficulty ahead for Senator Lodge.

The consolidation of the "irreconcilables," possibility of which is strengthened by Johnson's blast on the treaty, coupled with the attitude of certain senators who were "mild reservationists" on the Versailles treaty may throw the deciding votes on the pact into the thus far silent Democratic minority.

There is an interesting phase of the matter in that Republicans, who wished the league covenant adopted with reservations, are taking the private attitude now of "giving Lodge some of his own medicine," while Wilson Democrats, long itching to take revenge on the man who led the fight on the Versailles pact, are torn between taking advantage of the opportunity afforded them of supporting what some regard as redemption of Wilson's thought on international co-operation to keep world peace.

Lodge has failed to reconcile, thus far, the "bitter enders" in his own party. It remains to be seen what measures he will take to remove the present threat against the four-power pact, found centered for the most part in its inclusion of the Japanese homeland.

$100 PER CAPITA IS COUNTY'S ROAD COST

KINSTON, N. C., Jan. 5.—A per capita investment of $100 in good roads is the boast of Lenoir county, of which this town is the county seat. With a population of 25,000, the county's total investment in paved highways when its present program is completed will be approximately $2,500,000. This, it is believed, establishes a record.

Every principal street in Kinston, and every main road in the county will be hard-surfaced when the program is completed a few months from now. The concrete-asphalt roads lead to the boundaries of six adjoining counties.

A stretch of the Central highway which is 520 miles long and extending from the mountains of Western North Carolina to the ocean, passes through this county, and this for a distance has been converted into a memorial avenue for local war dead. The avenue begins at the Kinston municipal limit and terminates at the grave of Richard Caswell, first governor of the state after the revolution.

ARREST SUSPECT IN BLACKWELL SLAYING

United Press Leased Wire
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Olin Clark Walker, 22, was jailed here today on a telegraphic warrant from Gallup, N. M., charging murder.

While the police are velling the case in secrecy, the arrest was believed to have been made in connection with the recent murder of J. W. Blackwell, son of the Bull Durham king, and his beautiful wife.

The Burns agency is handling the case. Detective Thomas Weiss today telegraphed Chief of Police Turner of Gallup that Walker was in custody.

ORDERS MEMBERS OF POLICE DEPARTMENT TO ATTEND SCHOOL

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 5.—Lew Shank, erstwhile vaudeville comedian who answered an encore to the mayor's office here, started today to teach his policemen the three R's of education—reading, writing, and arithmetic. "Very mild," said the former potato mayor, in describing the educational course of his blue coats. There will be regular afternoon and evening classes.

"We have got to have policemen who can make out reports someone can read," the new mayor said. "Why some of these men don't know how to spell four-letter words."

"We don't want a hard examination—just something like they have in the 4b or 5-a grades in school. But we are going to make them pass an examination and we'll have a real school teacher that knows that stuff."

QUITS POLICE WORK TO WRITE SCENARIO OF BIG DEATH CASE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 5.—Cleveland's "best police officer" has quit the force.

Inspector John Rowlands, who the records show was never late a single day, retired from the department after 29 years efficient service.

He left it, folks say, because he thought he would be going out anyway shortly after the new city administration took power.

Twenty-seven of Rowland's 29 years as a policeman were spent "on the street," as a patrolman, sergeant, lieutenant and captain.

Rowland was the undoing of the men who committed the famous "Santa Claus" murders in 1902. In 1913 he wrote a story on it for a local paper. Now he's getting up a movie scenario on the crime and the men responsible for it.

PICKS WRONG MAN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—George Mason, burglar, was on the lookout for a stranger to act as "lookout" for him while he "turned a little trick." He had the hard luck to pick a detective.

JAP TOTS WILL GREET PRINCE WITH SONGS

BY CLARENCE DUBOSE

United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKIO, Jan. 5.—The Prince of Wales will hear "God Save the King," more than he will hear "Banzai!" from the crowds that will greet him when he gets to Japan.

A new course has been added to the curricula of Japanese schools. It is daily drill in singing the British national anthem. Throughout the Empire more than ten million children are now rehearsing it every day. They are going to spring it on the Prince of Wales wherever he goes in Japan.

School children will be lined up along the railroad tracks and city streets wherever the English Crown Prince travels, singing the song they have been practicing for months.

The future ruler of the British empire will reach Japan about the middle of April, to return the visit made to England by the Crown Prince of Japan.

He will find Hirohito Regent, or acting emperor, which possibly may require more form and ceremony even than had already been planned. Japanese court circles are ruled most rigidly by formula of undeviating and extremely elaborate character. There has been a great deal of speculation and wonderment how Hirohito could mill around in Japan with his visitor as democratically as the Prince of Wales did with him in England.

The Patchwork Quilt

HAVE YOU A PIECE
TO PUT IN IT?

By ELEANOR ELLIOTT
THE SPENDTHRIFT
Oh who would be a miser with his days
When there's a world of joy for him to buy?
Oh, who would hoard time in a narrow space
When light and love and joy await the eye?

My purse is opened wide,—the silken string
Is loosed so I can dip my hand with ease—
And I would lavish all that years can bring To purchase aught my eager eye doth please!

Too prodigal, they say of my intent
To give days freely,—as I choose to give,—
But when, a pauper, I,—my days all spent,— Ah, on what golden memories, I shall live!

IF YOU WERE a "snapper-up of unconsidered trifles" which you loved to stitch into place as a part of a patchwork quilt, wouldn't you feel pleased were you to receive a letter coming from a little city in the San Joaquin valley and painting a pleasant picture of the writer sitting before the open fire, examining the quilt?

We had that experience, and more than that, the same writer, and we're going to tell you her name, because of the vein of home-sickness in her letter, Mrs. Frank Stennett, of Strathmore, sent us a charming patch which we believe you will enjoy as much as we did.
Her tribute to our city which was once her home, shows a very abiding love for Santa Ana. And we're happy because she mentions Birch park,—it shows that some one else shares our weakness for that little beauty spot.

SANTA ANA
O lovely Santa Ana,
Fair city near the sea,
My mind in thought to thee,
Returns in thought to thee.
I love thy shaded byways;
How oft in days of old,
I've wandered down thy highways
'Neath trees, whose green and gold, Threw out their arms to greet me
As slowly I passed by,
The white gleaming sunbeams
Shown bright from southern sky.

O lovely Santa Ana,
Thy days passed swiftly by,
Those golden days of long ago
For them I softly sigh;
No more, I walk thy shaded streets
Nor roam thy winding ways,
Far from Birch park and Broadway,
I'm doomed to spend my days.

Up Parton, down West Washington,
Still leaves gleam green and gold;
Their murmur greets the passerby
Just as they did of old.
But many of the old-time throng
Have passed beyond their ken,—
Some wandered north,
Some wandered south,
Some far from haunts of men.

Many have laid their burdens down,
And gone to their last long rest.
Silent they wait the trumpet call Within earth's quiet breast.

And some have crossed the briny deep,
Doomed by the lust of war.
In Flanders field they lie asleep
With poppies covered o'er.

O lovely Santa Ana,
Fair city near the sea,
My heart in adoration
Goes back in love to thee.
No more thy wondrous beauty
Will thou to me unfold,
No more thy shaded byways
Fling arms of green and gold.
But on the walls of memory
Thy picture have I traced,
Which heights nor depths
Nor time nor place,
No power can erase.

O lovely Santa Ana,
I bade thee sad goodbye;
Thine image ever in my heart
Engraven there shall be.
And evermore I'll dream of thee
While here on earth I stay,
And hear thy image fair with me
When I am called away.

Going down the line at a certain popular hasheteria, a customer paused at the salads and the following conversation ensued:
"Give me some of the lettuce with out any dressing."
"Yes, sir. What kind of dressing do you want it without?"
"Without mayonnaise."
"Sorry, but we haven't any mayonnaise. You'll have to have it without French dressing."

Luncheon at St. Ann's Inn

Honors Member of Club
Of Earlier Day

Delightful in its opportunity for interesting reminiscences of Santa Ana as it was a number of years ago, was the gathering together yesterday of the members of a little club which existed during the residence in this city of Mrs. W. L.
Honnald, formerly Miss Carrie Burton.

Mrs. Samuel W. Nau, one of the members of the club, was hostess on the occasion which took the form of a charmingly informal luncheon at St. Ann's Inn, where covers were laid for the following: Mrs. Honnald, as guest of honor; her hostess and niece, Mrs. Charles Riggs; Mrs. A.
Lyon, Mrs. Sherman Stevens,
Mrs. J. Padgham, Mrs. Herbert
Gray, Mrs. Alice Harris, Miss Rosa Boyd, Miss Katherine Edwards and Mrs. Nau, the hostess.

One of the interesting things in connection with the little reunion, was that all but two of the original club members were present at the luncheon, and many happy and amusing tales of the time when the club flourished, were recalled. Mrs.
Honnald had many interesting experiences to relate to her friends, as her life since leaving Santa Ana some eighteen years ago, has been spent in far corners of the world whither Mr. Honnald's work as construction engineer has taken them.

Mr. and Mrs. Honnald, who are now residing in New York city, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Riggs, 901 Spurgeon street, since just before Christmas, and plan to remain until next week.

Ladies' Guild
When members of the Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Messiah met at the parish rooms of the church yesterday afternoon, officers to serve the society during the coming year, were elected as follows:
President, Mrs. C. P. Dunphy; first vice-president, Mrs. A. W. Harris; second vice-president, Mrs. J.
W. Crawford; secretary, Mrs. Guy
J. Gilbert; treasurer, Miss Stella Membery.

Following the election of officers, plans were discussed for the dinner to be given at the parish rooms on Wednesday night, January 11 at 6 o'clock. Mrs. J. W. Crawford and Mrs. A. H. J. Taylor were appointed chairmen of committees to arrange for the dinner to which all members of the parish are invited.

Woman's Club Comfort knotting and sewing on garments designed for White Cross work, occupied the morning hours of the meeting of the Baptist Women's Society yesterday at the church parlors.

At noon a delicious luncheon was served and in the afternoon Mrs. J. G.
Gould presided at the business meeting which opened with devotionals during which Miss Camp gave a cheerful New Year's greeting.

Miss Cox read an interesting report of the district board meeting, after which the topic, "Baptist Missions in Japan," was introduced by Mrs. O. S. Catland.

Miss Acock, home on a furlough from her appointment in Japan, gave the members a graphic picture of Island life, speaking on the subject of the "Recent Introduction of Christianity in Japan." She laid special emphasis on the difference in customs as well as in racial traits and ended her talk with stories of real Japanese Christian workers.

Among them Nakaji San, the young girl who is studying at an Eastern university as the Jubilee Guest from Japan.

Missionary Society
Many members of the Woman's Presbyterian society of the United Methodist church were gathered at the church parlors yesterday afternoon for the regular meeting.

The program opened with devotionals, led by Mrs. Finley McFadden, after which Mrs. S. S. Finley assumed the leadership, calling upon Mrs. J. G. Kennedy for a review of the first chapter of the mission study book, "From Survey to Service."

The first chapter of "Facts and Folks of Our Fields Abroad" was then discussed by different members, the beginning of mission work in Italy, South America, China and Syria being discussed by Mrs. Finley, in India by Mrs. Kennedy;
Egypt, Mrs. D. C. McGee; Soudan,
Mrs. Sarah Skiles; Abyssinia, Mrs.
D. E. Kellogg.

The announcement that the recent thank offering yielded the sum of $660 was only one of the many encouraging things embodied in the report, and all present were asked to bring to the February meeting, their donations for the "New World Movement" fund.

During the social hour, tea and homemade cookies were served by the hostess committee, comprising all those who offered the program of the afternoon.

Congress of Mothers Yorba Linda will be the scene of the regular meeting of the fourth district, California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher association to be held all day Saturday, January 14, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

The sessions will be held in Ley hall, Yorba Linda, and an interesting program of speakers is being arranged. Among the important things to be brought before the members, is the nomination for officers for the coming year.

'Pirates of Penzance' Cast

Meets at Junior High
For Rehearsal

In the second rehearsal for "The Pirates of Penzance" held at Junior high school on Tuesday night, the entire score of the tuneful, Gilbert and Sullivan opera was sung, to the great satisfaction of the director, Ellis Rhodes.

The rehearsals will continue to be held once a week until the time draws near for presentation, when Mr. Rhodes will call rehearsals with more frequency. Next Monday night, the cast will be divided, the men going through their roles at the high school music room, while the women will remain at junior high school where previous rehearsals have been held.

Part of "Mabel," the principal female role, which will be taken by Miss Margaret Warner, is proving exceptionally good, and Mr.
Rhodes' delight in Miss Warner's ability is shared by all the cast members who are agreed as to her fitness for the part. Miss Warner, like several of those taking leading parts, has her role pretty well in hand already, and it is thought that it will be only a short time until all the parts are memorized.

After that stage is reached, Mr.
Rhodes, with his executive ability, will soon have the company ready to present the opera.

According to one of the principals, the ability of their director, is the short of marvelous. Able to throw himself into any part, he visualizes it for the benefit of the person taking it, and can instantly sweep from one role to another, giving each one all the dramatic power imaginable, in addition to the vocal expression.

February 23 and March 1 have been named as the dates for the performance of "The Pirates of Penzance," with Misses Margaret Warner, Dorothy Mead, Kathleen Owens, Esther Pember and Edith Cornell, and Messrs. Robert Brown, Fred Rowland, Ray Miles, Fred Wilde and Maurice Phillips taking the leading roles. Miss Ruth Armstrong is the splendid accompanist at the rehearsals and will be the pianist in the orchestra accompaniments.

W. C. T. U.
Arrangements are nearly complete for the regional conference to be held by the county W. C. T. U. in the Baptist church, on Thursday and Friday, January 12 and 13.

The state president, Mrs. Eva C.
Wheeler; state secretary, Mrs. Hattie Young and one of the national lecturers, Miss Margaret Bilz, will be in attendance throughout.

One of the outstanding features of the first session is a reciprocity hour when representatives of a number of local organizations will speak.

The Thursday evening service will be held as a part of the week of prayer program, Mrs. Wheeler being the speaker that night.

Friday morning will have a number of features of special interest to members and workers.

On Friday afternoon, besides other interesting numbers, there will be a symposium on law enforcement from the standpoints of an officer of the law, the press, the church, the public school, and the citizen, all participated in by local men.

The conference will close Friday night with a banquet at 5:30 in the church diningroom, when there will be a number of responses to toasts.
All these meetings are open to the public and anyone wishing to make reservations for the banquet should phone or see Mrs. J. H. Scott, local president.

Double L Club
When the members of the Double L club met Tuesday night at the Miss Marguerite Galbraith on West Fourth street, a most enjoyable evening was passed, marked with music and merry chat.

Among the interesting phases of the meeting was the election of officers to serve the coming year, with the result that Miss Eleanor Loescher will act as president and Miss Nora Lykke as secretary-treasurer.

As the evening drew to a close,
the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following, who comprised the guest list:

The Misses Eleanor Loescher, Elsie Williams, Jennie Pollard, Nora Lykke, Lillian Lykke, Maude Lindsey and Mona Craemer, the latter an honorary guest of the club members for the evening.

JUST A LITTLE LATE.

Ebbl Travelers

The holiday atmosphere prevailing in the hospitable home of Mrs.
Martha Medlock, yesterday greeted the members of Ebbl Travel section
No. 2, when they gathered for the January luncheon, at 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Medlock, Mrs. Emma L.
French and Miss Mary Talbot, as associate hostesses, served a tempting four-course luncheon from tables most attractively centered with poinsettias. Places were indicated by cards bearing a New Year's greeting and upon which were written subjects of vital interest pertaining to civic affairs, which provoked interesting discussions.

The program committee composed of Mrs. Ardine D. Clayton and Mrs.
C. W. Burns presented interesting papers. Mrs. Clayton lectured with one on the general topic of "Outlook at Home and Abroad" in which affairs of national importance vied in interest with those more nearly touching home life.

Mrs. T. A. Winbiger sang very charmingly, her selections being
"When Song is Sweet" and "Sing Me to Sleep." Mrs. Clayton acting as her accompanist.

Mrs. Burns then gave a paper on "A Persian Wedding," which her hearers found highly interesting.

Mrs. Crose, recently returned from a visit in Iowa, received a warm welcome from her fellow members and gave an interesting account of her attendance at the eighth district convention of Women's Clubs of that state, which she attended during her visit.

Special guests at the pleasant luncheon were Mrs. Ida Dunphy, Mrs. Clarence Gustin and Miss Ethel French.

Charming Dinner Honors

Guests From Two Coasts

Dr. James P. Boyd and Miss Rosa Boyd entertained at a charmingly informal little dinner Wednesday night, at their home, 801 North Main street, when a few friends were asked to greet Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Honnald of New York City, and Mrs. Owens of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Honnald is a former resident of Santa Ana whose return after a number of years, to visit her niece, Mrs. Charles Riggs, is welcomed by many warm friends, while Mrs. Owens is the holiday house-guest in the home of Mr. James Irvine.

At the attractive dinner honoring them, covers were placed for twelve guests.

Informal Luncheon at Inn

Gathered for a pleasant little luncheon "en famille," Mrs. M. V.
Lyon, Mrs. Alice Harris and Mrs.
Ella Parker were guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hatzfeld at St. Ann's Inn.

Mrs. Lyon is Mrs. Hatzfeld's mother, while Mrs. Harris and Mrs.
Parker are her sisters, and in the homely atmosphere of the Inn, the charming informality of the family gathering was as pronounced as though it had been in the seclusion of their own home.

Household Economics

Members of the Fourth Household Economics section of Ebbl club will meet for 1 o'clock luncheon on Tuesday, January 10 at the home of Mrs.
G. E. Bruns, 1209 Spurgeon street.
Any member unable to attend is requested to notify the hostess prior to noon on Monday.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Foster, of this city, are anticipating the arrival here in a few days, of Mr. and Mrs. C. A.
Covey, and the former's sister, from Badger, Minn. The party has been at Bakersfield for two or three weeks, detained by the illness of Mr. Covey's sister. She was seized as they were en route from San Francisco to Santa Ana. The expected visitors will pass the winter in Santa Ana. Mrs. Covey is a sister of Mr. Foster, and with her husband, was here last winter.

Mrs. Norzette Head-Wiseman, of Gunnison, Colorado, arrived yesterday to spend a week at the home of her brother, J. B. Head, of the Robertson Electric company.

Miss Mary Levering of 926 East
Fourth street, left today for Chicago.
Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Furney and Mrs. Mary Detweiler, of Columbia, Mo., who are spending the winter in Pomona, were visitors yesterday and over night at the J. P. Baumgartner home, 1718 North Main street, Mrs. Furney and Mrs. Detweiler are step-sisters of Mrs. Baumgartner and Mrs. Palmer.

YOUNGEST FRENCH

HEROINE HONORED

PARIS, Jan. 5.—One of the youngest heroines of the war has just been honored by France. She is Helene Jacqueline de Montherme, up near the Belgian border. When the Germans swarmed over the frontier, Helene, who was then 10 years of age, and her brother acted as liaison officers between her father, to whom the French commander had confided an important mission, and the French army.

The Germans swept through, driving the French on toward the Marne. Helene's father was killed in action. Her brother was arrested and held before a summary court-martial, charged with aiding the French forces, although he was not a combatant. Helene was threatened with death by the Germans unless she revealed the modus operandi of her father. The little girl of the Ardenne refused. Here is what the official citation "a l'ordre de l'armee," which has just been published, says:

"She refused to utter a word in reply to the questions of the German officers. In spite of the threats of the prosecuting officials she did not furnish a single piece of information which might have put our enemies on the track of her father's collaborators."

Guests From San Francisco

Leave for Home After Pleasant Visit

After a brief visit here at the home of Miss Verna Peterson, 110
West Pine street, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mahoney left yesterday for a return to their San Francisco home, planning to sail from Los Angeles harbor this morning.

Mrs. Mahoney will be remembered by a host of friends as Miss Irene Beatty, a popular member of the faculty of the Fullerton high school prior to her marriage which was an event of last spring in Oakland. Mr.
Mahoney is a construction engineer with offices in San Francisco.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Pauline Jahraus of Laguna was a dinner guest at Miss Peterson's home, and later in the evening a number of friends gathered to greet Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney and spend a pleasant evening.

The Great Impersonation

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

"A sound business man, I should think," was the former's comment. "I wish him luck with his League. You, yourself, Sir Everard, will need to develop some new interests. Why not politics?"

"I really expect to find life a little difficult at first," admitted Dominey, with a shrug of his shoulders. "I have lost many of the tastes of my youth, and I am very much afraid that my friends over here will call me colonial. I can't fancy myself doing nothing down in Norfolk all the rest of my life. Perhaps I shall go into Parliament."

"You must forgive my saying," his companion declared impulsively, "that I never knew ten years make such a difference in a man in my life."

"The colonies," Dominey pronounced, "are a kill or cure sort of business. You either take your drubbing and come out a stronger man, or you go under. I had the very narrow escape from going under myself, but I just pulled together in time. Today I wouldn't have been without my hard times for anything in the world."

"If you will permit me," Mr. Mangan said, with an inherited pomposity, "on this our first meeting under the new conditions, I should like to offer you my hearty congratulations, not only upon what you have accomplished but upon what you have become."

"And also, I hope," Dominey rejoined, smiling a little seriously and with a curious glint in his eyes, "upon what I may yet accomplish."

The Duchess and her companion had risen to their feet, and the former, on her way out, recognizing her solicitor, paused graciously.

"How do you do, Mr. Mangan?" she said. "I hope you are looking after those troublesome tenants of mine in Leicester Square?"

"We shall make our report in due course, Duchess," Mangan assured her. "Will you permit me," he added, "to bring back to your memory a relative who has just returned from abroad—Sir Everard Dominey?"

Dominey had risen to his feet a moment previously and now extended his hand. The Duchess, who was a tall, graceful woman, with masses of fair hair only faintly interspersed with grey, very fine brown eyes, the complexion of a girl, and to quote her own confession, the manners of a kitchen maid, stared at him for a moment without any response.

"Sir Everard Dominey?" she repeated. "Everard? Ridiculous!"

Dominey's extended hand was at once withdrawn, and the tentative smile faded from his lips. The lawyer plunged into the breach.

"I can assure your Grace," he insisted earnestly, "that there is no doubt whatever about Sir Everard's identity. He only returned from Africa during the last few days."

The Duchess's incredulity remained, wholly good-natured but unshaken by her natural obstinacy.

"I simply cannot bring myself to believe it," she declared. "Come, I'll challenge you. When did we meet last?"

The Duchess was a little staggered. Her eyes softened, a faint smile played at the corner of her lips. She was suddenly a very attractive looking woman.

"You came to say good-bye," she repeated, "and?"

"I am to take this as a challenge?" Dominey asked, standing very upright and looking her in the eyes.

"As you will."

"You were a little kinder to me," he continued, "than you are today. You gave me this," he added, drawing a small picture from his pocket, "and you permitted—"

"For heaven's sake, put that thing away," she cried, "and don't say another word! There's my grown-up nephew, St. Omar, paying his bill almost within earshot. Come and see me at half-past three this afternoon, and don't be a minute late. And, St. Omar," she went on, turning to the young man who stood now at her side, "this is a connection of yours—Sir Everard Dominey. He is a terrible person, but do shake hands with him and come along. I am half an hour late for my dressmakers already."

Lord St. Omar chuckled vaguely, then shook hands with Dominey, who found relative, nodded affably to the lawyer and followed his aunt out of the room. Mangan's expression was beatific.

"Sir Everard," he exclaimed, "God bless you! If ever a woman got what she deserved! I've seen a duchess blush—first time in my life!"

CHAPTER V

Worcester House was one of those semi-palatials residences set down apparently for no reason whatever in the middle of Regent's Park. It had been acquired by a former duke at the instigation of the Regent, who was his intimate friend, and retained by later generations in mere protest against the disfigurement of the city which had made a millionaire's highway of Park Lane. Dominey, who was first scrutinized by an individual in buff waistcoat and silk hat at the porter's lodge, was interviewed by a major-domo in the great stone hall, conducted through an extraordinarily Victorian drawing room by another myrmidon in a buff waistcoat, and finally ushered into a tiny little boudoir leading out of a larger apartment and terminating in a conservatory filled with sweet smelling exotic. The Duchess, who was reclining in an easy-chair, held out her hand, which her visitor raised to his lips. She motioned him to a seat by her side and once more scrutinized him with unabashed intentness.

"There's something wrong about you, you know," she declared.

"That seems very unfortunate," he rejoined, "when I return to find you wholly unchanged."

"Not bad," she remarked critically. "All the softer, a faint smile. 'All the same, I have changed. I am not in the least in love with you any longer.'"

"It was the fear of that change in you," he sighed, "which kept me for so long in the furthest corners of the world."

She looked at him with a severity which was obviously assumed.

"Look here," she said, "it is better for us to have a perfectly clear understanding upon one point. I know the exact position of your affairs, and I know, too, that the two hundred a year which your lawyer has been sending out to you came partly out of a few old trees and partly out of his own pocket. How you are going to live over there I can't imagine, but it isn't the least use expecting Henry to do a thing for you. The poor man has scarcely enough pocket money to pay his travelling expenses when he goes lecturing."

"Lecturing?" Dominey repeated. "What's happened to poor Henry?"

"My husband is an exceedingly conscientious man," was the dignified reply. "He goes from town to town with Lord Roberts and a secretary, lecturing on national defence."

"Let Henry was always a little cranky—wasn't he?" Dominey observed. "Let me put your mind at rest on that other matter, though, Caroline. I can assure you that I have come back to England not to borrow money but to spend it."

His cousin shook her head mournfully. "And a few minutes ago I was nearly observing that you had lost your sense of humor!"

"I am in earnest," he persisted. "Africa has turned out to be my El Dorado. Quite unexpectedly, I must admit, I came in for a considerable sum of money towards the end of my stay there. I am paying off the mortgages at Dominey at once, and I want Henry to jot down on paper at once those few amounts he was good enough to lend me in the old days."

Caroline, Duchess of Worcester, sat perfectly still for a moment with her mouth open, a condition which was entirely natural but unbecoming.

"And you mean to tell me that you really are Everard Dominey?" she exclaimed.

"The weight of evidence is rather that way," he murmured.

He moved his chair deliberately a little nearer, took her hand and raised it to his lips. Her face was perilously near to his. She drew a little back—not too abruptly.

"My dear Everard," she whispered, "Henry is in the house! Besides— Yes, I suppose you must be Everard. Just now there was something in your eyes exactly like his. But you are so sure, have you been drilling out there or anything?"

He shook his head.

"One spends half one's time in the saddle."

"And you are really well off?" she asked again wonderingly.

"If I had stayed there another year," he replied, "and been able to marry a Dutch Jewess, I should have qualified for Park Lane."

She sighed.

"It's, too wonderful. Henry will love having his money back."

"And you?"

She looked positively distressed.

"You've lost all your manners," she complained. "You make love like a garden rake. You should have leaned towards me with a quiver in your voice when you said those last two words, and instead of that you look as though you were sitting at attention, with a positive glint of steel in your eyes."

"One sees a woman once in a blue moon out there," he pleaded.

She shook her head. "You've changed. It was a sixth sense with you to make love in exactly the right tone, to say exactly the right thing in the right manner."

"I shall pick it up," he declared hopefully, "with a little assistance."

She made a little grimace.

"You won't want an old woman like me to assist you, Everard. You'll have the town at your feet. You'll be able to flirt with musical comedy, flirt with our married beauties, or—I'm sorry, Everard, I forget."

"You forgot what?" he asked steadfastly.

"I forgot the tragedy which finally drove you abroad. I forgot your marriage. Is there any change in your wife?"

"Not much. I am afraid."

"And Mr. Mangan—he thinks that you are safe over here?"

"Perfectly."

She looked at him earnestly. Perhaps she had never admitted, even to herself, how fond she had been of this scapegrace cousin.

"You'll find that no one will have a word to say against you," she told him, "now that you are wealthy and regenerate. They'll forget everything you want them to. When will you come and dine here and meet all your relatives?"

"Whenever you are kind enough to ask me," he answered. "I thought I going down to Dominey tomorrow."

She looked at him with a new thing in her eyes—something of fear, something, too, of admiration.

"But—your wife?"

"She is there, I believe," he said. "I cannot help it. I have been an exile from my home long enough."

"Don't go," she begged suddenly.

"Why not be brave and have her removed. I know how tender-hearted you are, but you have your future and your career to consider. For her sake, too, you ought not to give her the opportunity."

Dominey could never make up his mind whether the interruption which came at that moment was welcome or otherwise. Caroline suddenly broke off in her speech and glanced warningly towards the larger room.

A tall, grey-haired man, dressed in old-fashioned clothes and wearing a pince-nez, had lifted the curtains. He addressed the Duchess in a thin, ready voice.

"My dear Caroline," he began— "ah, you must forgive me. I did not know that you were engaged. We will not stay, but I should like to present to you a young friend of mine who is going to help me at the meeting this evening."

"Do bring him in," his wife replied, her voice once more attuned to its usual drawl. "And I have a surprise for you too, Henry—a very great surprise, I think you will find it!"

Dominey rose to his feet—a tall, commanding figure—and stood waiting the approach of the newcomer. The Duke advanced, looking at him enquiringly. A young man, very obviously a soldier in manner, was hovering in the background.

"I must plead guilty to the surprise," the Duke confessed curtly. "There is something exceedingly familiar about your face, sir, but I cannot remember having had the privilege of meeting you."

PUBLIC UTILITY NO SECOND TRIAL ORDER SOUGHT FOR WETZEL IN SLAYING CASE OF RY. BOARD

Flake L. Smith and other Orange county residents today petitioned the state railroad commission to make an order declaring the wells and pumping plant owned by C. J. Klatt of this city a public utility.

According to a statement by Smith, he and other ranchers have been securing water from Klatt for the purpose of irrigating their walnut groves and other property adjacent to the well operated by Klatt. On September 1, however, Klatt refused to furnish water to Smith and his associates, according to the documents filed with the state railroad commission, and it is now proposed to have the commission fix rates for the water and prescribe service conditions.

Others who petitioned the commission at the same time in connection with the Klatt well were Theodore W. Bose, Robert G. Waring and J. Sebastian. Attorney L. A. West, representing the petitioners, said he had not yet been advised by the commission as to what action will be taken in connection with the petition.

CHURCH CANVASS BY 42 MEN IS PLANNED

Forty-two men will engage in the annual "every member canvass" of the First Congregational church next Sunday, it was announced at the annual business meeting of the church last evening.

Reports rendered last evening indicated that the year just finished was one of the most prosperous in the history of the church. Seventy-three new members were received, thirty-nine of this number on confession of faith.

Financially the church is in a prosperous condition, it was said, the expenses of approximately $6,800 being met by the budget.

A report last evening told of the discontinuance of the Japanese branch of the local church. All but twelve members of the church had moved out of town, and these were admitted to the First church.

The following church members will make the canvass next Sunday: Dr. J. E. Paul, J. C. Mitchell, J. A. Cranston, W. H. Sutton, W. B. Tedford, Thomas H. Rowland, W. D. Barker, George Shriver, C. H. Chapman, Leonard Baker, C. C. Langley, F. C. Rowland, George W. Etchison, R. J. White, J. S. Talcott, H. C. McCord, F. O. Calkins, Ralph Preston, N. H. Neff, C. S. Crookshank, C. M. Rowland, F. W. Slabaugh, A. H. Pennington, William Gebb, Dr. E. H. Rowland, B. R. Ford, Arnold Peek, Clyde W. Rowland, John Cochran, C. A. Gustlin, D. G. Cole, A. W. Stahl, A. J. Crookshank, W. S. Decker, E. H. Carritt, W. H. Crose, N. Beisel, John Thiessenhusen, Freeman Bloodgood, C. W. Leamer, L. L. Beeman and H. Hadowaki.

IRRIGATION COMPANY BUYS ADJOINING LAND

The Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company is completing the purchase of a piece of land near the company's tunnel at Olive, from the Olive Milling company. Directors of the water company authorized the purchase at a recent meeting.

The report of W. A. Ralph, company superintendent, follows:

"On petition of H. C. Schackenberg 976 feet of 18-inch pipe was laid in a portion of Ditch W; a gate also being replaced. Eight 6x6x14 posts were installed at the new well in Santiago creek. A fill was made back of the ditch fence, thus providing a road to the new well. Well No. 4 has been sand-pumped, and another well has been pierced in the bottom of the pit. New covering has been made on the bridge crossing at Fairhaven avenue. Sixteen hundred ninety-two feet of 24-inch cement pipe have been made and one car of cement has been received and stored."

The application of E. E. Minter to acquire stock land near the Santa Ana river was referred to the board of directors.

"The price of water, on and after January 1, 1922, was fixed at 40 cents an hour a head."

The secretary was instructed to transfer stock now held by the English Motor Car company to the name of J. F. Wilson."

ROBBERS LOOT MAIL SACKS IN STATION

YUBA CITY, Jan. 4 — Robbers had been received here of the robbery during the past week of some mail pouches locked in a box at the Western Pacific station at Pleasant Grove in the southern part of Sutter county, it is said the sacks were cut open and the mail taken. Postal inspectors are looking for two men seen in the vicinity of the depot before the robbery.

UNMANGEABLE TRUCK PUSHES NOSE THROUGH BRICK WALL OF STORE

A gaping hole in the rear wall of the Charles F. Mitchell paper and paint store, on East Fourth street, today was testimony of the force with which a Dodge truck belonging to the S. Hill and Son hardware firm rammed the building late yesterday.

The truck was one of a fleet of seven which the hardware firm put into service today. The fleet was being installed in a new garage, which adjoins the rear of Mitchell's store. One momentarily got from under its driver's control and went head-on through the thick brick wall.

The truck went most of its length through the wall, scattering bricks and finally wedging itself against the low roof of the room it entered. No one was near the spot at the time, and the driver, crouching under the top, escaped injury.

HUGE GASSER HURLS TOOLS OVER DERRICK

At 7 o'clock this morning the Union Oil company's No. 1 well on the Mason lease at Santa Fe Springs came in with a roar, the gas pressure being so great that the tools were hurled through the top of the derrick. Millions of cubic feet of gas have been liberated, it is said, with the result that lighting of matches or exposure of other open flames within a radius of one mile of the well has been prohibited.

An attempt to connect a steam line designed to smother the gas in event of ignition failed, it was reported. Adjoining acreage for several miles has been sprayed with mud which was belched forth with the released gas.

The new well is within a quarter of a mile of the famous Bell well, noted for its production of high gravity oil.

TURKEY BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE

UKIAH, Jan. 5.—The shipment of Christmas turkeys from Ukiah exceeded any of past years. One local merchant paid farmers $2850 for birds, and in addition many shipments went privately and the American Express company shipped several tons.

Great Britain has one automobile for every 110 persons of its population.

Clarence Robinson, negro arrested by local officers on the highway near Irvine and held on suspicion of connection with the assault upon a woman at Compton, was today released by the Los Angeles authorities.

Motorcycle Officer O. K. Carr arrested Robinson last Tuesday, on the chance that he might have been the same negro who attacked Mrs. Ed Richmond at Compton early Sunday morning. Robinson was turned over to the custody of Deputy Sheriff Davidson and Stensland, of Los Angeles, late yesterday.

After an investigation of the negro the Los Angeles officers decided that he had no connection with the Compton case and released him.

VISITORS FROM OMAHA PLAN LOCATION HERE

F. A. Wood, wife and son, Donald, are here from Omaha, Neb., visiting the former's brother, Wayland Wood, and uncle, the Rev. J. S. F. Wood. The family drove from Omaha in an automobile and it is possible that a permanent residence will be established in Santa Ana. Mr. Wood was salesmanager for the Nebraska Olds mobile company at Omaha for a number of years and also at one time was identified with the National Cash Register company.

"This truly is a wonderful," declared the visitor today. "We came into the state by way of the southern route and when we got into the Orange county district we thought we had reached paradise."

"We have come to California with a view to locating and Santa Ana and Orange county look mighty good to us. It is not improbable that we will decide on taking up our residence here."

LAY WANDERLUST TO BOY 10. AS HE VANISHES

Johnny Watson of San Pedro, the 10-year-old nephew of Mrs. J. H. Ross, 1020 Ross street, periodically becomes possessed of wanderlust, according to his aunt. On these occasions he sets out for some distant point and relying upon the generosity of motorists and "shank's mare," he journeys afar.

To this proclivity is assigned the strange disappearance of this youthful "knight of the road," for whom the local authorities were today requested to watch.

Johnny, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watson of San Pedro, was visiting at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Ross, for about a week. That is, he had been staying until yesterday afternoon when he dropped from sight. The frightened aunt notified the police who were today watching for the youngster.

In conversation today Mrs. Ross indicated that the strange disappearance of the lad was not extraordinary, and expressed the belief that he was headed toward his home in San Pedro.

"He ran away from home about a week ago and came here," she explained. "He becomes tired of remaining in one place, and sets out on the road. Passing motorists pick him up and give him rides, and in a surprisingly short time he has traversed many miles."

"Once before he ran away from home. After staying for a short time he again disappeared and turned up a day or two later at his home in San Pedro."

Mrs. Ross attempted to get in telephonic communication with her sister, the boy's mother, but was unable to do so today. It is believed, however, that the lad is on his way home, and that he will arrive in due time.

Just how the lad convinces motorists that all is "above board in his travels is not known, but the fact that he makes good time is indicative of his success in that regard."

The new well is within a quarter of a mile of the famous Bell well, noted for its production of high gravity oil.

TURKEY BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE

UKIAH, Jan. 5.—The shipment of Christmas turkeys from Ukiah exceeded any of past years. One local merchant paid farmers $2850 for birds, and in addition many shipments went privately and the American Express company shipped several tons.

Great Britain has one automobile for every 110 persons of its population.

Clarence Robinson, negro arrested by local officers on the highway near Irvine and held on suspicion of connection with the assault upon a woman at Compton, was today released by the Los Angeles authorities.

Motorcycle Officer O. K. Carr arrested Robinson last Tuesday, on the chance that he might have been the same negro who attacked Mrs. Ed Richmond at Compton early Sunday morning. Robinson was turned over to the custody of Deputy Sheriff Davidson and Stensland, of Los Angeles, late yesterday.

After an investigation of the negro the Los Angeles officers decided that he had no connection with the Compton case and released him.

VISITORS FROM OMAHA PLAN LOCATION HERE

F. A. Wood, wife and son, Donald, are here from Omaha, Neb., visiting the former's brother, Wayland Wood, and uncle, the Rev. J. S. F. Wood. The family drove from Omaha in an automobile and it is possible that a permanent residence will be established in Santa Ana. Mr. Wood was salesmanager for the Nebraska Olds mobile company at Omaha for a number of years and also at one time was identified with the National Cash Register company.

"This truly is a wonderful," declared the visitor today. "We came into the state by way of the southern route and when we got into the Orange county district we thought we had reached paradise."

"We have come to California with a view to locating and Santa Ana and Orange county look mighty good to us. It is not improbable that we will decide on taking up our residence here."

BRICKYARD HOLE DESCRIBED AS DANGEROUS

Declaring the brickyard hole at Hickey and Sixth streets to be a menace to the health of the persons residing in that community, Deputy City Health Officer W. W. Chandler warned the city council last night that remedial measures should be taken at once in order to prevent possible loss of life.

Chandler asserted that there is eight feet of water in the hole at this time and that a child walking along the edge of the banks might slip in to the pond and be drowned. He was concerned as to responsibility in case of such an accident—the city or the property owner.

Responsibility could not be determined last night, because it was not known definitely whether Hickey street, the danger point, is a street reservation or has been deeded to the city. If deeded, the city is responsible, according to Special City Counsel Clyde Bishop. Bishop pointed out that if the owner of the property had dug so close to the street as to remove supporting earth from the street, then the owner would be responsible for cave-ins.

Edward Dahl, street superintendent, was directed to close Hickey street between Olive and Garnsey. Obstruction will be from property line to property line, and no one will be permitted to drive over the street at that point. Persons who pass the barriers will do so at their own risk, it was said.

Set Protest Hearing
Protest of owners of corner lots on Main street, between Seventeenth and the northern city limits, to assessment for street intersections made by the street superintendent, was filed. Hearing on the protest was set for Monday evening, January 16, at 8 o'clock. Property owners between streets are not represented in the protest and if they have grievances they should not fail to protect their interests by appearing at the hearing, it was stated by a city official last night.

M. Nisson was before the board for information on the costs of installation of the ornamental lighting system. He said that there are five lights on his property, and that on the basis of his assessment, each of the posts cost him $50 more than the average cost of the posts and lights prorated on the street according to the number in the entire system. It was explained that the assessment was not made on the basis of the number of lamps but on the front footage system. The cost of the system was $24,000.

Corner lot owners are protesting paving assessments on the ground that the assessment was not made according to benefits, the major portion of the costs for intersection work being charged against the Main street frontage, with frontages on cross streets paying very little of the costs. William Menton, attorney, represented the protesting lot owners.

Petition for Extension
A petition asking extension of the city limits south to include a portion of the McFadden street was read. The names of 274 residents were signed. The clerk was directed to verify the signatures and present a certificate of his findings at the next meeting of the council, this being necessary before action can be taken on the petition. The territory is uninhabited. The proposed annexation embraces the acreage between Fair street and the Pacific Electric tracks and south to a point 310 feet south of Edinger street, proposed to be opened through the tract.

With respect to grounds for dumping trash, the city is rapidly reaching the point where it will be "all dressed up and no place to go," according to a report made to the council by the street superintendent who reported that the present grounds would hold the trash only until about the first of February and that so far he had been unable to make satisfactory arrangements for using river land of the Newbert Protection district. The district is willing that the city should use portions of its ground, providing it would be agreeable to an adjoining land owner who has refused to give his approval, said Dahl. Mayor Mitchell and Dahl were scheduled to call upon the owner today to see if satisfactory arrangements could not be made with him.

Miscellaneous Business
J. H. Mefford was awarded the contract for drilling a new well for the city near the reservoir at Sixth and Olive, at $3 a foot for a sixteen inch hole. The well will be sunk to a depth of 466 feet.

Santa Ana Printing and Publishing company was granted a permit for temporary structure for press room at its location on North Main street.

T. P. Kellogg, representing the company, said that permanent construction would be made if the company was successful in securing an extension of its lease under terms proposed.

A. E. Carhart asked the board to establish street lights on Camille at Orange and Maple. It was referred to Councilman Green.

The Pashley Motor Sales company was given a permit to operate a sales yard for second hand automobiles at the southeast corner of Broadway and Third streets.

Application by Mrs. M. Goetz for permit to operate a rooming house at 401 1-2 East Fourth street was referred to Councilman Tubbs.

Application for a permit to operate a restaurant at 714 East Fourth street was denied, on recommendation of Councilman Tubbs, to whom the matter had been referred for investigation.

That a survey of the city's property at the location of the reservoir at Olive and Sixth disclosed that the north line is two and one-half feet farther north than was supposed, was reported by Water Superintendent Walter Wray. The discovery was made when lines were run for the building of a new fence on the north side of the reservoir.

The city attorney was directed to draft an amendment to the sanitary ordinance prohibiting the keeping of animals within a certain distance of any reservoir in the city.

GUILTY VERDICT
IN LEGION CAR
THEFT CASE

Whether S. M. Stern, found guilty by a jury verdict of embezzling the $5,000 Premier raffle car from Santa Ana, will join his brother in serving a term of from one to fourteen years at San Quentin, or will receive probation, today formed a question that will be placed before Superior Judge Z. B. West tomorrow, to be answered a week later.

Following announcement of the jury's verdict that he was guilty of the offense charged, Stern, late yesterday, asked the court for probation and was told that his chance of securing it was slight. The court instructed him to renew his application tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., the time set for passing sentence. At that time, the court indicated, the entire matter will be continued for one week to allow time for investigation and report upon the worthiness of Stern's appeal.
Out Hour and Half
The Stern jury occupied one and a half hours in arriving at its decision. Retiring for deliberation at 2:30 p. m., it brought in a verdict at 4 o'clock. Speculation at its delay in reaching a verdict was indulged in by those who considered the case clear cut and the result certain. It was thought that debate over some point of law probably stood in the way of an agreement.

The appearance of J. H. Stern upon the witness stand to testify for his brother, after previously confessing to the embezzlement and assuming sole blame, was surprisingly brief. Whether the damaging testimony of Stern's wife and other evidence presented by the state had upset plans of the defense, only one or two questions were asked of the witness

These had to do with the contract with the First National Bank, owner of the car, through which the car came into possession of the brothers.
Writes Fictitious Bill
No part of the dramatic confession made by J. H. Stern in the court room recently was touched upon.
On the stand Tuesday, the younger brother had, in answer to questions of Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley, stated that he personally wrote the fictitious bill of sale which purported to show the Premier car had been acquired in San Francisco by "H. Lusk" the name used by J. H. Stern in Salt Lake City while making efforts to sell the car.
Mozley later produced evidence to show that the bill of sale was executed in the handwriting of the defendant S. M. Stern.
Attorneys for both sides made powerful appeals in their argument to the jury yesterday. Morris Phillips, for the defense, asked acquittal on the ground that an embezzlement was not proved, and that on the other hand the Sterns had actually contracted for the purchase of the car.

Jury Instructed
The court's instructions included one to the effect that if the evidence showed that if S. M. Stern was connected with the automobile transaction by any contract either express or implied and had taken any part in its unlawful removal, he should be pronounced guilty. J. H. Stern had, in his confession, declared that S. M. Stern had nothing to do with the transaction but was merely working for him. The state produced evidence at the trial to show that S. M. Stern's name was included in the contract with the bank, and that beside having written the fictitious bill of sale, he suggested, according to Mrs. J. H. Stern, that the party travel under assumed names.

LOCAL CLINICAL BODY
TO MEET JANUARY 13

Members of the Santa Ana Clinical society are looking forward today to their annual meeting, which will be held here on the night of January 13.
Local physicians who are members of the Southern California Medical society will journey to San Diego some time during April to attend the annual meeting of that organization.
The state medical society will meet at Yosemite May 15. Numbers of Santa Ana physicians will attend this meeting, it is expected.
The Orange County Medical society met at the county hospital last Tuesday night. Dr. C. D. Ball read a paper on "Ancient Orange County Medical History," and Dr. John Luther Maroon contributed one on "Diabetes."

BEGINS FLOW OF 1000 BARRELS
AS STARTER

The bringing in of a 1000-barrel producer at Huntington Beach, the promise that production in the Long Beach field will be doubled when five wells, showing strong signs of becoming producers, are brought in, and the forecast that Richfield is to have another deep producer soon—there are the highlights contained in a weekly report issued today by Ellwood J. Munger, oil news expert of Brea.
Concerning Huntington Beach, Munger says:
"Jim O'Donnell has a thousand barrel well. O'Donnell No. 1 completed at 3741 feet started to flow before all the oil string could be installed.
"The Petroleum Midway washed out Elliott No. 1 at 2936 feet and the well started flowing at about 50 barrels.
"The Rhoads Oil company recovered its No. 2 and put it back on production as a 400 barrel well.
"The Standard Oil company brought in a 100-barrel well at Huntington No. E-3.
"The Sun Oil company has resumed work on No. 1 and will deepen No. 4.

Gets 200 Barrels
"R. W. Edens placed his Syndicate No. 1 on production this week. The new well started off at 200 barrels.
"William Kammerer brought in a 250 barrel well for the Holly Sugar company at 3549 feet.
"E. J. Miley's No. 2 brought in the latter part of last week is one of the nicest wells in the field. At 2752 this well is flowing 650 barrels.
As to the Long Beach field, Munger says that "five wells will double the present production there."

"The five new wells ready to bring in," says the report, "are all promising and will probably increase the Signal Hill output three thousand barrels."
"Jack McKeon has succeeded in shutting off the water in Oceanic No. 1 and this well is now drilling into production.
"The Shell Company has some 17 wells drilling.
"The San Martenas Oil company has the big well Booth No. 1 recompleted at 3561.
"The United Oil company has two wells on the Denni property looking like big production. Denni No. 1 at 2800 is showing oil, and Denni No. 2 at 3000 feet is showing lots of oil and gas and looks like a big well."

Munger's report continues:
"Richfield is scheduled to have another deep producer soon. The Clark Oil company's Hugo Netrell No. 1, drilling at 4400 feet, is in the oil sand.
"The Petroleum Midway has installed the McVoy Screen pipe in the deep Richfield-Yorba well drilled to 4805 feet.
"The Ridge Oil company is now drilling through the cap rock at 4510 feet and the outlook for a well is being watched with great interest.
Plan Test Well
"The Seal Beach Oil company has completed a rig for the first test well and drilling is scheduled to commence in about ten days. The location of the well is considered with some favor.
"Actual drilling started on the B. & M. Oil company's Belmont tract.
"The Dolke-Thomas Syndicate has moved its rig and is ready to start drilling a second well on reservoir hill at Fullerton.
"Garden Grove investors are watching the progress of the Standard Oil company on the Chaffee well. The progress is excellent but so far the showings are of no importance.
"The Bandini Petroleum company will win out and bring in a well if perseverance means anything in the oil business. Drilled originally to 4096 5/16 cmBeachopen. 1"AL ec: 4095 feet the well was plugged back to 3600 feet where a real battle to shut off water has been waged for a number of months.

Standard Pioneers
"The Standard Oil company will be the first company to bring in the new production at Santa Fe Springs. The Standard's Brown-rigg Kellar No. 1 set pipe at 3145 and is now drilling at 3400.
"The Union Oil company is moving fast with eight wells drilling. Bell No. 1 continues to flow its 4000 barrels daily. Bell No. 2 and 3 are drilling.
"Other companies now drilling at Santa Fe Springs are the Central, Fullerton, General Petroleum, Nevada Ventura, Petroleum Midway, Shell and the Wilshire Oil company. At Montebello the Arcadia Oil company has made 3100 feet of hole and is finding grey shale and sand.
The Camanche Oil company's Manly now drilling at 3350 is in the oil sand and looking very good.
"The Interstate Oil company has gone back to Montebello field and will attempt to redrill and put on production a well started some three years ago.
"In the Puente Hills the Bardeen Oil company is pulling out the 6 inch and will recomplete the test well on the Getty lease.
"The Pomona Oil company reported an oil sand at 3265 and claim a light gravity product.
"The Wonder Oil company has closed a lease for a hundred acres of property located between the St. Helen Petroleum and the Bardeen Oil company. The Wonder expects to develop the property at once.
Exploiting Redondo
The Redondo field is now being exploited by the Chansler-Canfield Midway, the General Petroleum and the Union Oil company.
"The Union Oil company has gone back on the deep well at Gardena and will continue the test.
"The Amalgamated Oil company brought back the old days in the Salt Lake field last week by bringing in a 300 barrel well.
"Excitement at Buena Park has been given another boost by the offer of a $15,000 bonus for the 83-acre Lovett property. The General Petroleum made the offer and intends getting in with the Standard Oil company in this new prospective field.

Many ambitious men and women live only half a life—and don't know it

No person whose nerves are continually irritated, whose appetite and digestion are disturbed, or who doesn't sleep well has more than half his normal chance for success in life. For weakness, debility, anemia and general lack of tone are a serious handicap to anybody.

Those who drink tea or coffee are often sufferers from these conditions. Tea and coffee contain caffeine, a substance which has a decided stimulant action on the nerves.

Each cup of strong coffee contains about as large a dose of caffeine as your doctor would ordinarily give to a very sick person.

You can readily see that the effect of giving this stimulant regularly to a well person might finally have a tendency to make him sick.

If you want to avoid a very common cause of irritation and enjoy restful sleep, good digestion, and the feeling of vigor and robust endurance that comes to healthy, normal people, quit tea and coffee, and drink Postum, instead. It is a rich, coffee-like cereal beverage—perfectly delicious!

Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this fragrant, aromatic beverage and see how much better you'll feel—able to do more without becoming fatigued—as thousands have discovered for themselves.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold everywhere!

TAYLOR CANNERY
PRODUCTION
BY HALF

Head of Establishment On Way East to Develop More Business

TO EMPLOY MORE HANDS

Plans Orders In Advance Covering 1922 Output of Local Plant

Increase of fifty per cent in production with the same ratio of increase in the number of persons employed—this is the answer Fred Taylor makes to a query as to the outlook for 1922 operations of the Taylor Cannery on East Fourth street.

Taylor left today for his annual trip to the East to develop business for the local plant by taking orders in advance of packing. Before starting on his tour he made the announcement of the proposed increase in the pack for the coming season, which opens in June.

Taylor will be absent for four weeks and during his trip will touch at many of the important centers.

The pack of the cannery last season was ten carloads, all of the goods being shipped on orders taken before manufacture of the products of the cannery were started. The pack for this year will be fifteen carloads.

"I am expecting a good business year and am going to increase the output of my plant," declared Taylor today. "I see nothing on the horizon that warrants me or any one else to stand still in anticipation of a depressed period. I have faith in the future and have decided to demonstrate that faith by making a drive for more business and extension of the field for distribution of the products of the local cannery."

"With the larger output naturally will come an increase in the number of men and women on the payroll of the plant. It will mean the circulation of more money among the men and women of Santa Ana—and it will be capital that is brought from the outside."

He will attend a convention of cannery men to be held at Louisville, Ky., January 14-20.

S. A. V. I. ELECTION TO BE HELD FEBRUARY 7

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Santa Ana Irrigation company, scheduled for Tuesday, February 7, at Orange, business questions will be discussed and five directors will be elected. The present directors are:

A. N. Saxton, George Dierker, Archie M. Robinson, L. L. Marchant and W. A. Greenleaf.

Among other matters, the stockholders will discuss the final steps to be taken in connection with the proposal to purchase from the Olive Milling company approximately 100 acres of land which is adjacent to the irrigation company's ditch and reservoir in that section. Officers of the company said today that it had not been definitely decided just what use the irrigation company will make of the eleven acres.

Contractor Will Start Work on Bank's New Building Next Monday

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 5.—Construction work on a new bank building for the Citizens bank of Garden Grove will be started the first of next week, according to announcement made today by J. S. Finor, of Santa Ana, to whom was awarded the contract.

The new building will be of brick construction, 25 by 10 feet in dimensions, and will cost approximately $8,000.

The vault will be of reinforced concrete construction, and will contain a modern safe in which to keep the currency and coin of the bank.

The bank is now occupying temporary quarters in the Guyon building, the directors believing that the new home will be ready for occupancy within thirty days.

LAGUNA CLIFFS ROADS TO BE GRADED UNDER DIRECTION OF COUNTY

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 5.—According to the statement of Joe Skidmore, the board of supervisors of Orange county has taken over all of the important roads of Laguna Cliffs and will begin the grading and repair of them as soon as the weather permits. Austin Cody, road foreman for the Laguna district, will direct the work. The matter was presented to the supervisors by a general petition circulated by Mrs. Georgia Denning. Later Skidmore took the question up with the board and pleaded the necessity for the improvement.

PARKING REGULATIONS ARE PUT INTO EFFECT

(Special to The Register)
FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—New parking regulations adopted by the city trustees were in effect here today. The new regulations have special reference to cars parked in the downtown section and require all machines to make an angle of approximately 45 degrees with the curbing. No motor vehicle may park with the right front wheel more than two feet from the nearest curb.

PLANS $7000 HOUSE ON COSTA MESA LOT

COSTA MESA, Jan. 5.—A. L. Patton, owner of property at Twenty-first avenue and Newport boulevard, is preparing to start work on the erection of a $7000 residence, it is announced.

Patton came to Costa Mesa recently and purchased the tract of ground upon which he will erect the residence. When the dwelling is completed he will be joined by Mrs. Patton and their son and daughter.

Patton is one of the enthusiastic supporters of the movement to secure a better water system for the Newport Heights Irrigation district and declared at the meeting of owners last Tuesday afternoon that installation of a new system should be made at once. He anticipates advanced prices on materials before the year is over.

PLAN TO EXTEND REALTY BOARD ACTIVITIES

Annual Meeting and Election to Be Held Next Tuesday at James's

That plans are being developed by the Santa Ana Realty board for an activity of great benefit to the members of the board and the public in general became known today with announcement of features of the program for the annual meeting of the board to be held at James's cafe Tuesday noon of next week.

Organization of a realtors' club, that will function along the lines of Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and similar organizations, and bring real estate dealers into closer relationship once a week, and the institution of an educational campaign will be recommended by the officers and board of directors to the new officials selected at the annual meeting.

The educational campaign will consist of a series of Tuesday night meetings every two weeks, with an expert on some division of county activity to address each meeting. The meetings will be open to the general public, the plan being to acquaint everyone with reliable and authentic information of soil conditions and resources of the city and county.

Men qualified to speak will treat soil conditions, oil, irrigation, climate, drainage, oranges, lemons, walnuts, sugar beets, sugar, avocados, apples, truck gardening, greenhouse and nurseries, dairying, poultry, manufacturing, processing of fruits and vegetables, Orange county harbor opportunities, transportation, good roads, recreation, etc. Only one subject will be treated in an evening. The educational program is being developed by a committee, of which Freeman H. Bloodgood is chairman.

The date for installation of officers will be named at the meeting Tuesday evening. The banquet will be a feature of the meeting at which representatives of various organizations and clubs will be present. Co-operation of all the members in constructive work and consistent boosting of Santa Ana will be the theme of the installation meeting. Plans also will be outlined for a joint effort of the board and the other organizations.

PLANS FOR NEW HOTEL AT EXCAVATION STAGE

(Special to The Register)
FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—Preliminary plans for the erection of the new Community hotel here were virtually completed here today, it was announced by the heads of the company behind the movement. It was expected excavating operations will begin shortly.

NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM TO BE OPERATED SOON

(Special to The Register)
FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—According to announcement here today by the Southern California Electric company Fullerton's ornamental street lighting system will be in operation within ten days. Temporary transformers will be used until the full equipment is received.

WE HAVE TURNED THE CORNER

By HERBERT C. HOOVER
Secretary of Commerce

We have much upon which to congratulate ourselves; our difficulties are infinitely less than those of Europe; we have weathered the danger point of a great crisis; our financial system has proved its strength and for the first time we have passed safely through a commodity crisis without monetary panic.

Our people have abundant food and abundant clothing.

We are at least warmly housed, even though crowded.

We possess in the high intelligence, high courage and high ideals for our people ample reserves of economic, social and political strength.

We possess a great sense of neighborliness that has had fine manifestation in these difficult months in help given each other in weathering the storm.

We have had a remarkably small ratio of failures.

I am convinced we have fundamentally turned the corner.

WERE ERECTED IN 1921
AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 5.—That $401,820 was spent in the year 1921 in the construction of new oil derricks in this city is disclosed by data compiled from the records of C. W. Warner, building inspector. Permits issued called for the expenditure on other buildings of $291,600. The grand total represented in all permits is $693,420. It is believed construction under the permits represented an investment of fully $1,000,000, as values given in permits seldom are the full amount expended on an individual building operation. During the year 1921 residences were built, 40 garages totalling 80, oil derricks 79, and bungalows 145.

Records show that June was the banner month, when permits were issued to the value of $194,530.

WILL EXPEND $7000 ON ALTERING HOUSE

Bowman and Preble, contractors for the residence improvements to be made at 2015 North Main street for Miss Linda Paul, principal of Lincoln school, started work today, according to report of W. W. Kays, architect. The improvement will cost $7000, it is estimated.

Kays is preparing plans for a structure to be erected by Albert H. Rohrs on North Glassell street, Orange, for remodeling by Charles S. Kelly, of the Andre property on the northwest corner of Main and Third streets, now occupied by the Overland Santa Ana company and the Central garage. Alterations will start about February 1 and will result in the making of three store fronts fronting on Main street and four on Third street.

HOME OIL SUPPLY CO.
FIGURES IN TRANSFER

Sale of the interests of the Home Oil Supply Company by S. B. Ferguson and George Westover, to R. A. Mosher is reported by Freeman H. Bloodgood, local realty dealer. The company's plant adjoins the Santa Fe tracks.

Bloodgood also was the agent in the transfer of the Santa Fe agency of the Los Angeles Examiner from R. H. Downing to J. Leonard Cole, of Orange. Cole is now in charge and Downing is to remain with him until January 15.

According to Bloodgood, he has exchanged a five-acre tract on West Chapman street, Orange, for Mary Millrat, to C. G. Jones, for residence property at 821 North Garnsey street this city.

BEGIN WORK ON $7600
BUNGALOW APARTMENT

McMillan and Spangler, architects and building contractors of Santa Ana, have started work on a bungalow apartment of three suites at Eighth and Walnut streets, for Jack McDonough, Huntington Beach. The estimated cost is $7600.

PROS 61st pg.—Local doctor

Dr. Roscoe Whitted, of Santa Ana, has added to his business property holdings at Orange by purchase of the D. C. Dixley property on North Glassell street. The property has a frontage of fifty-nine feet and extends through to Olive street. It is occupied by a grocery store, meat market and fruit store. The consideration was not made public.

ZIONISTS SEIZE WINE CONSIGNED BY RABBI

ZION CITY, Jan. 5.—Officials of Zion swooped down upon a truck that had stopped because of a flat tire inside the city limits and found it contained two barrels of wine being sent to Milwaukee by a prominent Chicago rabbi. The wine was locked up in the city bastille, along with 265 pints of whisky and twelve quarts of rum seized in other raids.

MORE BUILDINGS
PREDICTED

Architect Calls Attention to Increasing Demands for Information

Construction of business buildings in Santa Ana for 1922 will set a new record for Santa Ana in this class of building operations, in the opinion of W. W. Kays, architect.

Kays stated today that a number of business building projects developed in the latter half of the closing month of last year, and that the first few days of the new year have seen no abatement in the queries for information as to costs.

He is considering a number of tentative plans, he says. The projects are for new locations in the developing business districts.

"There is no doubt that the coming year will see an expansion of the business district, with a large number of new store rooms constructed and rented to persons who desire to engage in business enterprises in the city."

"The business district has not kept pace with the residence districts in construction work and it must be apparent to anyone who gives the matter consideration that there must be more store rooms to meet the demands for business locations induced by a rapidly-growing population."

BUILDING BRIEFS

TRACY—Expenditure of $75,000 on school buildings of the city during the coming summer is planned by the school trustees.

Incidentally two of the new streets in the tract have been christened Normandy Place and Beverly Place. Ornamental lights are to be installed, Turner taking the lead in subdivision work in Santa Ana in this character of improvement.

Suggestions may be addressed to him at room 235, W. H. Spurgeon building, and must be in his office not later than Tuesday evening next at 5 o'clock.

Award of the prize will be made at once and sale of lots in the tract will start on the following Thursday, with all real estate dealers in the city handling the lots.

To Expend $24,000.

Turner will spend approximately $24,000 in making improvements on the tract, including paving, sidewalk, curbing, ornamental lighting system, running water, gas and sewer leads to the property line on each lot. Work is now in progress on the subdivision.

There are fifty-six lots, eight of which face on Orange avenue and vary in width from 45 to 66 feet, with a depth of 120 feet. Twenty-four lots front Normandy Place, with widths from 48 to 55 feet and depth of 90 feet on the south side and 110 feet on the north side. The same number of lots front on Beverly Place, having widths from 45 to 55 feet and depth of 100 feet on the south side and 126 feet on the north side. Prices will vary from $350 to $2750 a lot.

Building Restrictions.

Building restrictions eliminate the possibility of garage houses or stores. On those lots located east of the Pacific Electric tracks, no residence can be built costing less than $2500, and west of the railroad tracks no residence costing less than $3500 can be erected.

"With the improvements and restrictions I am making on this subdivision I believe it will become one of the most popular extensions added to the residential district of Santa Ana," said Turner today. "I anticipate quick disposition of every one of the fifty-six lots and would not be surprised to see building operations start at once."

Turner will pay the cost of operation for the ornamental lighting system for one year, after which time other arrangements will have to be made for continuing the service.

ORANGE FELT FACTORY TO OPEN PLANT FEB. 1

ORANGE, Jan. 5.—Announcement that a branch factory of the Burham Manufacturing company of Clinton, Ohio, makers of felt goods, will be opened in Orange early in the year is made by L. Burham of that organization.

Burham, after investigating conditions in the West, decided on Orange as a favorable location for a branch factory. The company makes all kinds of felt goods.

Burham stated that the factory will start with about 25 employees. He hopes to be in operation about February 1.

REGISTER PROPERTY UNDER TORRENS ACT

Property of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Bauer, consisting of approximately 42 acres situated in the vicinity of Santa Ana, and of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hawley, including property near Santa Ana, in the Newbert drainage district and seven lots at Newport Beach, will be registered under the Torrens title act, according to directions issued in a decree by Superior Judge West, on file today.

Hearing on the Bauer and Hawley petition for such registration of title was held by Judge West June 6.

OFFERED COACH JOB

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Charles Brickley, former Harvard university football star, has been offered the position of head football coach at Northwestern university, it was announced yesterday.

CITY REALTY BOARD TO SEND DELEGATES TO STATE MEETINGS

Ten or twelve members of the Santa Ana Realty Board will attend the regional conference of realtors in Southern California to be held in Los Angeles at 12:30 p. m. next Saturday, when plans will be laid for the state convention to be held in San Francisco January 19-21. Similar conferences will be held in Fresno and San Francisco by realtors in the districts of Northern and Central California.

Saturday's affair will be a luncheon meeting in the English room, on the fourth floor of the Athletic club. Officially, it is a meeting of the officers and directors of realty boards in Southern California.

Among local realtors who expect to be present are Everett A. White, J. C. Wallace, F. C. Pope, L. J. Carden, I. W. Bouldin jr., Freeman H. Bloodgood, Joseph Smith and J. E. Leibig.

It is expected that at least twelve Santa Ana dealers will attend the state convention at San Francisco. Freeman H. Bloodgood has been selected as Santa Ana's entry in the contest for the silver loving cup offered to the board sending the best "five-minute home town talker" to the gathering. Short, snappy talks on the particular advantages of the city which the speaker represents are required.

Many local realtors refer to Bloodgood as "their silver-tongued orator" and they are banking on him putting over some good boost stuff for Santa Ana and there will be some disappointment if he does not bring that loving cup to Santa Ana.

$25 TO BE GIVEN AS PRIZE FOR BEST NAME

Ashby Turner has $25 in real cash

he desires to give away, and he plans to give it to some person in Santa Ana Tuesday evening of next week.

He is in need of a name for his new subdivision on Orange avenue and is willing to give that sum of money to the man or woman who can suggest a name appropriate to the subdivision and its location.

Incidentally two of the new streets in the tract have been christened Normandy Place and Beverly Place. Ornamental lights are to be installed, Turner taking the lead in subdivision work in Santa Ana in this character of improvement.

Building Statistics Covering Preceding 18 Years Given

FORECAST IS OPTIMISTIC

Point Out Need of Additional Business Buildings and Sites for Locations

Commenting here today upon the significance of the recent report filed by W. S. Decker, city building inspector, which shows in detail the remarkable growth of Santa Ana from 1903 down to the present date, prominent real estate dealers declared their belief that the city's growth during the next ten years will be even more remarkable.

"Decker's report shows that the valuation of building permits in 1903 was $75,575," said W. A. Settle, of McBride and Settle, "and that during the years 1920 and 1921 the valuation of permits was $3,979,457. From 1903 to 1921, inclusive, the value of the permits was $10,465,461. I was particularly interested in the statement that the permits for the past two years were over one-third of the value of reports issued during the 18 years and four months."

"Using this ratio as a basis for my calculations, I think I can foresee a tremendous increase in growth in this city and vicinity during the next ten years. In fact, I think I can safely say that I can foresee nothing that can hold Santa Ana back."

Steady Growth Features

"It will be noticed, in connection with Decker's figures, that the growth in this community has been both steady and substantial. This, I think, is the one thing that has made Santa Ana one of the best business centers in all the Southland."

"There have been no booms, no overnight mushroom growths, but a steady climb toward increased population and additional business ventures. We have now reached a point where we can never go back. Someone has aptly said that a city once having reached the 20,000 mark will continue to climb steadily and will never lose that which she has gained."

"Shrewd observers and old-time residents here tell me that of all the counties in many of the Western states, Orange county is best adapted to withstand the encroachments of the depression that has swept over the Eastern states. We have the back country here to keep this county in the forefront and I anticipate no setbacks during the present year."

"I do not pose as a prophet, but I do maintain that Santa Ana is one of the best cities in the United States, and in support of this claim I can say that business men are constantly coming to us seeking locations here. If we had 100 more business places in this city we could rent them in less than a month."

Outlines Future Needs

"And this brings us to a consideration of the future. One of our greatest needs here, and one that we must speedily meet, is the creation of additional business structures. During the last month our firm has been obliged to turn down at least 25 applications for desirable business locations."

31-ACRE CITRUS GROVE IN RICHFIELD DISTRICT
PURCHASED FOR $75,000

Involving a consideration of approximately $70,000, title to thirty-one acres of orange and lemon land located in the Richfield district is passing from J. A. Poteet of Richfield, to C. E. Cook of Hollywood, and H. P. Giddings, of Santa Ana, according to announcement today of Harris Brothers, real estate dealers, who negotiated the sale.

There are house improvements on the ranch and it is understood that one of the purchasers will make his home on the tract. Oil possibilities did not enter into the consideration, it is said. The tract is on the edge of the Richfield oil district as developed at this time, and later may become a part of the producing fields should developments of the future lead to the belief that the oil grounds extend to or in the direction of the tract.

Most of the tract is planted to oranges and lemons.

SAIL FROM SAN PEDRO TODAY ON LONG CRUISE
Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Buck, of this city, sailed from San Pedro at noon today on the steamer Venezuela for a trip that will end upon their return here sometime next March.
Their first stop will be at Manzanillo, Mexico, and, continuing their ocean voyage, they will stop at San Jose de Guatemala and La Libertad, Honduras; Balboa and Colon, at each end of the Panama canal; Havana, Cuba, where they will stop for two weeks, and from there to Key West, where they will land. They will pass a month at Miami, Jacksonville and Palm Beach, Fla., and will return home by way of Washington, D. C., and Chicago.
Buck is the senior member of Buck and Buck, motorcycle agents.

WANTS CHILD TAKEN FROM HIS EX-SPOUSE, GIVEN TO HIS MOTHER
Modification of a divorce decree, awarding a child to the plaintiff wife, Amelia Calkins, will be asked by the defendant husband, Harry C. Calkins, in a motion argued on the grounds that the wife did not seek custody herself but asked that the child be given into the care of its grandmother, Minnie C. Calkins. Notice that this motion will be made in department two of the superior court on January 13 or as soon thereafter as possible was on file today through Attorney Walter Eden, representing the defendant.
Calkins defaulted in the suit and his wife was given the decree and custody of their son October 7, by Judge R. Y. Williams.

locations in Santa Ana. Men come to us and say:
"We have been looking over the field in Southern California, we have investigated Santa Ana, and we like the city. We want to locate here and are ready to begin immediate operations. What can you do for us in the way of a business house?"
"The city needs, and will have, at least six more substantial structures built along the lines of the Spurgeon building and the Rankin store. I feel confident we could lease every foot of available space in such buildings before the structures were completed. One of the best barometers of Santa Ana's prosperity, to my mind, is the fact that there is not a single vacant business property to be had at this time. And it is almost impossible to buy anyone out."
Predicts Expansion
"The immediate future, I think, will see considerable expansion of the business district. Santa Ana has long since outgrown the status of the 'one-street town,' and it will not be long before we shall see pretentious structures, not only on Fourth street, but lining the intersecting streets as well."
"My firm has had inquiries from business men wanting to open service stations, shoe stores, clothing stores, tailoring establishments, hardware stores, groceries, and nearly every other line of business here. On the whole, I think we are safe in predicting even greater activity here in the next two years and I expect to see substantial increases both in population and in business."
In conclusion, Settle expressed the belief that the present year will see the erection in the downtown section of at least four business structures that will be a credit to the community and will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000.
Favors Better Buildings
Representatives of the W. H. Spurgeon Realty company, commenting upon future building activities, said that absolute necessity would compel the erection of better and higher-priced structures in Santa Ana. A few years ago, they explained, it would have been entirely feasible to erect three or four buildings at a cost of $100,000 to meet the needs of the city's tenants.
This, however, is no longer possible, realty men declared, and today it would be necessary to spend anywhere from $200,000 to $250,000 in the construction of the same number of buildings, in order to keep pace with the community's growing needs.
The investment, they declared, would be well worth while, inasmuch as the greatly increased revenue would more than justify the initial outlay. The buildings of the future must be bigger and better, they asserted, and these will make for a greater Santa Ana and increased prosperity.

ILLITERACY SHOWS GAIN IN CLEVELAND
CLEVELAND, Jan. 5.—Illiteracy is increasing in Cleveland. Today there are 33,164 persons ten years old or over, living here, who are unable to read or write. The majority of them—30,946—are foreign born. Negro illiterates number 1,563 and native whites 624.

SAM STEIN PREPARES TO MOVE JANUARY 14
One week from next Saturday, Sam Stein, stationer, 210 West Fourth street, expects to be in his new location at 307 West Fourth street. "Of course," Sam does not plan to move the contents of his store except to have all of the stock in his present location transferred so that he will be ready for business at the new site by the following Monday morning. One week later, January 23, there will be a formal opening and reception at the new business location.
Workmen today were preparing for alterations in the front at the new location. A tile floor is to be laid at the entrance, the doors of which will be recessed nine feet.

GRAND JURY REPORT DUE BY NEXT TUESDAY
The grand jury is approaching the end of its work, and, according to a statement made today by its foreman, E. B. Collier of 117 East Washington avenue, should be ready to make its report to Superior Judge Z. B. West not later than next Tuesday. The grand jury is to hold a session at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, when it is expected that the report of William Feldner, chairman of the grand jury committee on roads, bridges and public buildings, delayed two weeks on account of Feldner's illness, will be made and considered.

1921 A Studebaker Year

The sale of Studebakers in Southern California for 1921 was more than double the record for the previous year.

This extraordinary gain in Studebaker sales has been due almost entirely to the active enthusiasm of Studebaker owners. They have been pleased with the satisfactory performance of their cars and have said so to us, and, what is more important still, they have told their friends and neighbors.

These Studebaker owners have been our real salesmen and to them belongs the full credit for a Studebaker gain three times greater than the gain made by the automobile business in general in this section.

We feel that we can best express our appreciation of the genuine and whole hearted manner in which this voluntary support has been given by pledging to carry on our business with the same high ideal of integrity and fair dealing that has made "Studebaker" a watchword for seventy years.

"1922 Will Be a Studebaker Year."

ATTORNEYS PREPARE FOR ARBUCKLE CASE
United Press Leased Wire
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Attorneys for both prosecution and defense in the Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle trial gathered in San Francisco today for final conferences preparatory to Arbuckle's second trial scheduled for Monday.
There was some reason to believe a delay of one week would be acceptable to both sides, but neither the defense nor prosecution would say whether such a delay was to be asked.
Arbuckle is scheduled to come to San Francisco Saturday from Los Angeles where he has been remaining in seclusion since the jury at his first trial disagreed on the question of his guilt or innocence of charges of having taken the life of Virginia Rappe.

Uncle Riley Drives In

"—With all this here Holiday cheer, and the Season's best wishes," says Uncle Riley, "we have worked ourselves into another New Year. Yes sir, it's 1922, even if everybody, most, is still beginnin' their letters with last year's datin'. The weather, however, continued the first two days very much like it did last year and me bein' out in the elements right smart. I ketch'd a cold clear up and down my throat. Well, I barked around awhile like a hound dog in 'Little Eva's Cabin,' 'till I got my head clear enough to go down to the Parsons Drug Store and demanded some of their own White Pine Mentholated with Tar Cough Syrup in exchange for 25 cents and my cold both. When a feller gets the hay fever I'll prescribe anything, most, but when it's a real bad cold just go down and trade it off to J. Fred Parsons."

"—With all this rain fallin' on the just and unjust and partagin' on my south eighty I was beginnin' to think about the only thing we'd be able to grow down there was rushes and bull frogs. My boy says, 'Why don't you let me drain it.' And I thinks the only thing to do it was a trawlin boat, and the water was too deep for that now, and when it went down we wouldn't need the boat out there in the field this summer—so I was plum up agin' it. But he told me I'd let him use the I. H. C. tractor we got from M. Ellistite & Co. he'd do the job. So I did—and he did. And if you'd seen that tractor pullin' right along steady down there in all the water and mud you'd only think two things. One, that the I. H. C. was the only tractor, or second, the same as the first. Good judgment, that's it."

"—It's a certain thing, too, that a feller has got to use judgment when he picks out his lumber for any buildin'. That's why I've been buyin' every beam and splinter from C. H. Chapman, now, since way for them to serve you with a smile and give helpful suggestions than in any other way. I guess it comes from the old fashioned notion of wantin' their product to stand up and last, and the only thing in the buildin' line that I can't recommend from there, is somethin' they don't handle at all."

"—At the New Years dinin' table Maw speaks up and says, 'Folks I've got a New Years surprise for you.' And she brought out a cake that was a tribute to the bakin' division of the culinary art. How did you do it Maw, says I. And she says, 'By just walkin' into the Bon Ton Bakery and purchasin' it.' She went on to say that it did beat all that she never used their bakin' steady and it took a New Years resolution to do it. I says, that's all right now Maw, I don't know of a more fittin' time to turn over a new leaf than in so much favor with the whole family, as the Bon Ton's bakery products is."

"—I was into George Edgar's Groceries the other day and I says, George, what are you goin' to do to start the year off right? 'Well,' he says, 'Now let me see. Here I've been passin' out foreign relishes and appetizers to the folks around these parts. Some of them from India, too; that is the foodstuffs are. Then I've been carryin' the highest brands of groceries, the best in China.' So I adds, and the best in Santa Ana, too. So I told him with this I guess the highest resolve he could make is to keep on servin' the people in this like manner for the ensuin' 1922. And George reckoned, emphatic'y, 'Yes!'"

"—While up at the Fourth Street Market, on yesterday, it was, I was inquiren' from Mr. Peek what he was goin' to start in and do now that he had the turkey rush off'n his hands. 'Mr. Waters,' he says in his quiet manner, 'with the weather turned cold and crisp folks'll hang on to their meat diet to produce warmth, as we have to show them fellers from the East that we never even felt chilly out here.' But my notion of havin' juicy roasts and thick steaks from his market is just because I actually love 'em, and will depend on other sources for my heat."

"—One of them sources is that new all wool suit I purchased at the Wardrobe awhile back, that and my new overcoat from there, too. And somethin' more I got at Christmas but didn't mention. Maw says 'Why?' and I couldn't exactly tell, though I haven't mentioned it to even the closest neighbors. And what I'm speakin' of comforts me, and makes my path easier. Like religion in that respect, and about the same in not bein' talked of much, but they are the best that the Wardrobe puts out in that patriotic cold weather attire—the Richmond union suit."

"—Then another source of warmth is a electric heatin' pad I got for the guest room from the Granger Electric Company. I got it on account of the last time Sis stayed out here because of the rain she used our old hot water bottle and mentioned the next morning she might as well have gone home in the rain. So I guess it busted. And I'll say that anybody that has cold feet and has one of these pads in bed with them, will get so thawed out, they will feel like goin' around barefooted all the next forenoon. Givin' some idea of this article's utility, that Granger's sell."

"—The middle of last week my boy was haulin' some feed out in our old truck and the front right wheel went down in a hole bustin' it off and springin' the axle. We phoned for Ham, as late as it was, but he come out after dark and towed the wreck in to his garage. We told him we were in sort of a hurry for it and dinged if he didn't work half the night to get the job done. That's the kind of service that makes that feller popular. Or there there is a time for everythin' but you can depend on Ham for a tin' good work out, snappy, and when you want it."

"—But as far as trucks go we are now in line for the best one I have ever saw. And it has a line of machinery behind it and a reputation miles and years long. It's an International and is sold by M. Ellistite and Co. Aside from the haulin' power and the savin' on repairs, gas, oil and the like here's its big feature. It is constructed so that you can put on a Full load and still keep within the highway weight law. Some folks holler at the law but I'm goin' to side in with it and get a truck that complies with it to a lot and still carries a full load."

"—Sometimes I wonder whether I'm fittin' myself to be a getter farmer or a mechanic. But if a feller isn't a latter, now days, he hasn't a chance of bein' a former. And the one objek that keeps things runnin' by runnin' me to town and back, out to the field and back, and again back to town and out is that Superior Chevrolet of mine. No wonder Mr. Schroeder and the Pauley Motor Sales Co. are so glad to see their customers, for they've sold them somethin' that they are as proud of as the buyers. They don't merely trade a auto for a man's money but sees to it that he gets satisfaction. That's the secret of succeedin'."

"—While I was in at the Orange County Ignition Works that day I had a purty long wait for distilled water. It seems the service was there but it was all busy. So I goes in and asked Earl Matthews about it. So he said, 'Mr. Waters, it's this way, we give service to from 2501 to 3001 cars a month, includin' you, and it sure keeps us busy. But,' says he, 'that's all been taken care of and we have all the arrangements made for greatly enlargin' the plant. Just as soon as the contractor gets here on the location we'll start to do things.' And I'll say that a service that outgrows itself is some service."

"—To be sure a feller or a business house has got to be on its toes now days, but the completest store in their line is Liveseys. Why just go in there any day, first off you can stand and look at guns and ammunition that'll make you want to go huntin'. Then there are auto accessories that don't just add appearance but are certainly useful additions on any car. Then take this and that, but all you have to do is to just go in and use your eyesight. And whenever in doubt about anythin' most, you usually hear someone say to try Liveseys. And ain't it the truth?"

"—The other day, my grandson, who got a new bicycle for Christmas, was asked at school to write a piece on one of his presents. So he got a 'B' for his one, standin' for either, beautiful, brazen, or bum—I can't say. Listen. Some people work for lots of power. Others they work by the hour. But Mr. Myrick's job in town, is sellin' bicycles around. My Uncle Riley, thoughtfully, bought one of them new bikes for me. And though my tryin' is all wrong, I'm much obliged to him. So long. So I will express my partin' in the words of that young poet. So long."

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Veg- etable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."—Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury St., St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and the superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a most desirable influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner.

ORANGE COUNTY NEWS

ANNUAL BANQUET OF CHAMBER IS SCHEDULED

By MALCOLM S. MAC LEAN
LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 5.—Next Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the Hazel cafe, the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce is to hold its annual banquet. All local members are invited to be present. It was decided by the board that because of the inclemency of the weather and our present lack of a suitable place to meet that the election of officers will be postponed until that time. It is expected that a large number will foregather to eat together, to hear the report on what the chamber has done during the past year and to offer suggestions for plans for the coming year.

Lights Assured
According to Joe W. Skidmore, who is managing the matter of installation of electricity at Arch Beach, the new improvement is now assured since only seven of the necessary number of property owners are lacking in signature and money to close the proposition. Immediately upon receipt of these additional names and checks the Southern California Edison company will take up the contract and proceed with the raising of poles and stringing of necessary wires.

Stephens Chalmers in Hawaii
In a letter recently received from Stephens Chalmers by R. Clarkson Coleman we learn that he and Mrs. Chalmers are comfortably situated in a small town not far from Honolulu. Chalmers complains of the heat and dampness and says that Laguna Beach seems ideal from his present perspective. He is writing a number of stories at present and for relaxation attending native dances on the beach around great fires of driftwood, shooting wild pigs and wild goats, and fishing off the coast in native sampans. He recently landed a swordfish weighing 157 pounds. And he supplies the neighborhood with goat meat, for the wild goats are the best of existence in Hawaii and the ranchers were wealthy enough would offer a bounty for their destruction.

Chalmers' story, "Ghost Pipes," which appeared recently in Popular magazine called "The Caledonian." This publication also is planning to bring out soon his series of stories called "In Our Home Town," delightful tales of home life in the author's town in Scotland. Chalmers also has been lecturing some on Stevenson.

New Year's eve was much celebrated in Laguna Beach. From Arch Beach to McKnight's addition the town was "lit up" for the occasion. At the Arts and Crafts studio of Miss Jessie Washburn a party for the unattached was afoot. Throughout the evening that preceded the ushering in of the New Year tables of bridge were going, but as the time approached Miss Washburn, who is a social-maker in the hands of her guests and on the stroke of twelve there was a flare of sound that roused the neighborhood.

Nearby, at his studio, Joseph Kleitsch was entertaining at an informal card party. After midnight a delicious supper was served and the party gradually broke up.

On the Cliffs, Mrs. M. E. Simpson, of Minneapolis, entertained informally. At midnight the feature of the party came in the fact that several pistols loaded with blanks were placed in the hands of the guests and a fusillade of shots greeted the dawn of 1922.

New Year's eve saw brilliant lights burning in the studio of Karl Vens. About a roaring fire there gathered a large number of guests, among whom were E. E. Jahraus, Joe Jahraus, Miss Pauline Jahraus, Frank Hansen, Mrs. Ada Ziebach, her sister, Mrs. Beardsley, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Clarkson Coleman. The New Year was ushered in with story telling and the reading of an original poem by Mr. Hanson. A light supper refreshed the guests before they left.

Personal Activities
Mrs. K. T. Wilcox left Laguna Saturday to go to Pasadena to witness the great Tournament of Roses on January 2.

Mrs. Anna M. Curtis, of the Gloriana apartments, entertained relatives over the holidays.

Mrs. Alma Forbes entertained twelve guests at luncheon on Tuesday.

Mrs. Louise Smith, of Pasadena, is visiting Mrs. Lillian Taylor on the Cliffs.

Mrs. Donald McLean of Twin Falls, Idaho, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McLean over last week-end.

Mrs. Mary Whipple, Mrs. Grace Kay Swan and J. Goodrich Gould spent the New Year's at Tia Juana.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hoos have taken an apartment on the Cliffs.

Mrs. A. F. Driscoll and her sister, Mrs. Cutler, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jack from Los Angeles over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Albright arrived this week from San Juan Capistrano to spend a month in Laguna Beach while Mr. Albright sketches. Albright is a well-known painter, his particular subject being children. He was for a number of years president of the Chicago Artists' club.

R. Clarkson Coleman is to have an exhibition of twenty paintings on the mezzanine floor of the new art gallery in Hollywood when it opens for the first time next month.

Mrs. Ella Goodrich, of the Cliffs, entertained Mrs. Lillian Taylor, Mrs. Louise Smith, Mrs. Lester McLean and Mrs. Donald McLean at dinner last Friday evening.

Further drilling on the well of the Laguna Beach Oil association has been delayed because the rains have made the roads so heavy that it is impossible to carry adequate supplies to the well. As soon, however, as the roads are passable drilling will be resumed through the blue shale into which the bits are driving. It is expected oil will be produced before a depth of 3,750 feet is reached.

Noted Artist Is Preparing to Exhibit His Work

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 5.—Theodore Jackman, at his Laguna Beach studio, is preparing an interesting exhibit of his highly individual work in various media. The group will number twenty or more pictures in water color, crayon, charcoal, and tempera, sprinkled through with a number of larger canvases in oil.

The paintings are being built from sketches made all over the world and gain largely in fascination and interest from their variety of subject and handling. Africa, France, Spain, England, Early California, and Mexico, with their colorful differences in architecture, costume and figure are represented.

Like Frank Brangwyn in subject and handling, Jackman rarely paints a single figure or a vignette but on the contrary creates complete compositions. Of rare beauty and feeling is the recently completed Indian picture "Lost Lands."

COSTA MESA

By D. H. REID

COSTA MESA, Jan. 5.—W. H. St. Clair has received word that the brother-in-law of his brother, F. H. St. Clair, who conducts a meat business in Newport Beach, had been killed in an auto accident at Riverside Monday night. The passenger train struck the car in which the young man was riding with a companion, demolishing the car and fatally injuring the occupants. One victim has died and the other can not recover.

L. P. Yandell and wife, accompanied by their son-in-law, E. S. Gilbert, attended the rose carnival at Pasadena Monday. They are sanguine as to the beautiful feasts they saw, extending in a procession of two miles. Those floats representing the seasons were especially beautiful, they said.

Box For News Items
Everybody who is interested in doing something for the community is asked to put news items in the box which they will find a little later at the post office. Mr. Spencer is having such a box made by a student in the manual training department of the Santa Ana high school. Look out for the box.

Visitors at Te Winkles
Miss Ida Winkles, of Mills college, near Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Golden, of Buena Park, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Te Winkles Monday. Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Clifford of Colton, James Golden and Mrs. M. Golden of Del Rosa, and P. F. Smith of Pomona, visited the Te Winkles on New Year's day.

Visits Brother Here
Walter Whewell and family, of Canada, are visiting the brother of Mr. Whewell of this place. They expect to spend some time here.

Mrs. Nina Salsbury and sons, William and Lloyd, have returned from Coronado, where they have been visiting for some months past.

Mr. Seims, living on the boulevard, is able to leave his bed after several days of severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilson are thankful to the stork and Santa Claus for a fine baby boy left them on Christmas day. The gift, though unusual, is much appreciated.

George Sanborn and three children, formerly of Lansing, Mich., arrived Wednesday. Mr. Wilson has been here for some time, living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Hinkle. They will make their future home at Newport Beach.

Likes School
Miss Ruth Reid assumed her duties as teacher in the Costa Mesa school last Tuesday morning. She speaks highly of the cordial reception accorded her by the teachers and pupils. She thinks the Costa Mesa schools are all right.

SAN JUAN

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Jan. 5.—A large crowd was present at the Farm Bureau dance here on New Year's eve. Refreshments were served by the high school students. Jack Congdon and Elwood Kirkpatrick being in charge. The money will be used to equip the athletic grounds at the high school.

A dance was given Friday night by Hubbell's orchestra. Another dance will be held Friday, January 13.

The high school reopened on Tuesday, after a vacation of two weeks.

Personal Notes
Mrs. F. D. Stillwell and baby, Mary Jean, have been visiting with Mrs. H. S. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Malcom entertained Mr. and Mrs. Warren and son over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barnes and family and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown and family were New Year's guests of the Harry Barnes.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Swanson are visiting with Mrs. Swanson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McCarty.

Mrs. D. J. McHenry is visiting her mother in Redondo.

Miss Phyllis Mitchell was the guest of Miss Elva McHenry recently.

Miss Eleanor Rosenbaum, who is attending school in Los Angeles, has been home for the holidays.

IRVINE

IRVINE, Jan. 5.—The Irvine school opened Tuesday, January 3, after a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Smith spent the week-end in Los Angeles.

The Misses Julia, Mary and Ruth Ives, and Miss Margaret Obenshine, and Joe Ives spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ahern.

Miss Arlene Watrous spent last week in Orange with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Whitson, and daughter Margaret, and Florence and Marian Brownridge, of Santa Ana, visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spencer last Monday.

Think of "EXCELSIOR" when you want milk, cream and ice cream.

FIRE-FIGHTER IS TO SPEAK AT BREA

By the REV. W. E. SPICER

BREA, Jan. 5.—Brea Chamber of Commerce will meet at the school house next Monday night. Chief Scott, of the Los Angeles fire department, promises H. B. Bruce that the department will answer his call for a "blazing" speech on fire prevention.

Bruce is an unquenched enthusiast for chemical fire-fighting equipment. He was made chairman of a committee of one to get the "fiercest, fire-eating speaker" in the state for the next chamber meeting.

L. D. Pierce, who suddenly disappeared from his business a few weeks ago, has suddenly reappeared.

A mid-winter lecture course at the school house has brought some fine talent. But the last speaker with a great message, was unfortunately placed in a mid-holiday season which together with nature's overabundance of dampness, gave him a small hearing.

Sudden Interest in Boats
"Denizens" of our new addition were investigating the price of boats last week. Never mind, sidewalks will come in due time.

City Marshal Rudy knows his business and is making a splendid record to the satisfaction and praise of good citizenship.

Farmers about Brea are not complaining of rain except that it gave them too much rest. Fields are looking fine.

C. R. Merrifield is trimming his eucalyptus hedge during rainy weather. He has the "back-east" rainy weather habit.

Tramps tell us the rain drove them out of the small places and from the roads into Los Angeles. Poor old L. A. has all kinds of floods, it seems.

Annual Meetings
This is annual meeting times for our local churches.

The Congregational church took up its annual business yesterday and the Christian church next Tuesday.

The Christian church is observing the annual week of prayer this week. Mr. Ogden, recently arrived from Tibet, is expected to be with them next Tuesday night.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Christian church met Wednesday afternoon. A missionary play and "foreign" refreshments were on the program.

Resume Work
Now that holiday floods are over, damages to the new theater building are being repaired and the building started again on its way to completion.

Woodruff and Henigan having won a suit over the co-operative store, now have possession of the entire brick building, corner Pomona and Ash streets. The firm will expand its business, handling full lines of gentlemen's furnishing goods.

The co-operative store moves into the building on North Pomona avenue, vacated by Barney Lusinger, who takes his electric supply business to the new brick Yriarty building on South Pomona avenue.

Six grocery stores in town the co-operative is now located to the north end of the business district. In other grocery stores located in the Eastern suburbs.

Arthur Raitt charted a branch of "H. Y." boys for their four-square development of manhood last Tuesday night. They meet at the "Cabin" and C. R. Merrifield is their Bible teacher.

HARPERVILLE, Jan. 5.—Sam Weaver has about completed his watch tower. He has two stories almost finished. The whole structure is built of reinforced concrete and has a passageway from the rest of his dwelling. He has a place for his "gizmos," and port holes out of which to point them. He can readily turn things on his hen house and from his elevated perch "no chicken thief will get away on more than one peg when Sam gets into action," it is declared here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ticer entertained at an elaborate goose dinner at their home on Christmas. Arrangements had been made to serve the dinner out of doors, but owing to the rain their original plans were abandoned and a very happy time was passed about the table indoors.

Among the many guests present were Sam Weaver and his bride, who arrived recently from the East.

JOSEPH C. BURKE IS HIS NAME; NOT 'JOE'

"What's in a name?" Much, says the new United States attorney at Los Angeles.

Joseph C. Burke today had in hand his commission to that office, dating for four years from December 22, 1921, and signed by President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty.

Yes, that is the way the commission reads: "Joseph C. Burke"—just like that, and not simply "Joe," which name the Santa Ana has used since he was a kid.

Now that Uncle Sam has officially taken the stand that his name is "Joseph C." such will be Joe's name henceforth, at least in signing official papers.

Local authorities were today on the lookout for George Coleman, 20, wanted at Long Beach for the alleged theft of a Ford sedan. The car was taken Monday afternoon, according to a report made to local officers.

"TWO MINUTES TO GO" BIG FOOTBALL DRAMA COMING TO WEST END

Charles Ray

Charles Ray has surrounded himself with a cast of exceptional talent in his latest First National starring vehicle, "Two Minutes to Go," which will be the attraction at the West End for five days, commencing next Sunday, simultaneously with its opening in Los Angeles.

Mary Anderson, popularly known as "Sunshine Mary," is to be seen as Ray's leading lady in this vehicle. Lincoln Stedman, the good-natured fat boy, who has been seen with Ray in many of the star's past releases, has an important part.

Tom Wilson, who trained Ray for the prize fight staged in "Scrap Iron," takes the role of a football coach in "Two Minutes to Go."

Others in the cast are such well-known screen players as Lionel Belmore, Truman Van Dyke, Gus Leonard, Bert Woodruff, Francis Dumas and Phillip Dunham.

"Two Minutes to Go" is a lively college football story by Richard Andre. Ray enacts the part of a gridiron gladiator who works his way through college by peddling milk in the early hours of the morning. The story is replete with humor, romance and action, constituting one of the best vehicles yet taken by the popular star.

As was the case in some of his preceding productions, Charles Ray personally directed "Two Minutes to Go," assisted by Al Ray.

WEARS CHARMING GOWNS
IN "BEYOND"

Beautiful Ethel Clayton, Paramount star, wears many stunning gowns in "Beyond," her latest starring vehicle, which comes to the Temple theater tomorrow. Many of these were made especially for her use in this superb William D. Taylor production, the story of which was written by Henry Arthur Johns, a celebrated playwright.

Miss Clayton is seen as the wife of a man of wealth who later is shipwrecked in the South Seas and has many thrilling adventures. The brilliant interior scenes and homes of wealth afford her ample opportunities for effective sartorial display and that Miss Clayton has amply taken advantage of them, every woman spectator will agree, it is said.

Violin Soloist.
On the same bill Miss Bessie Irene Chapin, concert violinist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lou V. Chapin, formerly of Santa Ana, is heard in an interesting program which embraces the classical and the popular, thus making a universal appeal.

Miss Chapin comes here endorsed by L. E. Behymer, of Los Angeles, and was enthusiastically received by last night's audience. She is mistress of her instrument's tonal resources and enters heart and soul into her interpretations. Her phrasing and her brilliant technique mark her an exceptional artist.

Several other features round out the program which is well worth seeing.

The House of David band of twenty musicians which has been playing over the Pantages circuit is to top the Meikelojola and Dunn vaudeville road show at the Yost next Monday and Tuesday nights.

Jackie Leaving Tonight.
"My Boy," the Jackie Coogan picture, which has been entertaining Temple patrons for the past five days closes tonight at the conclusion of the second show. The interest in this picture has been so great that Manager E. D. Yost would have kept it here longer had it not been for the fact that contracts for other pictures are awaiting their fulfillment at the Temple. "My Boy," it will be remembered, was brought here on the spur of the moment when Mr. Yost found it was available for the New Year's holidays.

BARBARA BEDFORD IN HER FIRST STAR ROLE
Manager H. E. Yost announces that the new star, Barbara Bedford, will be seen at the West End theater this afternoon and tonight only. She is to appear in her first star role, in "Cinderella of the Hills," a William Fox production.

Reports from various theaters in which the new star has appeared all point to her decided triumph in her higher sphere. Her vivacity, her keen understanding and sympathy, and her wonderful personality are all potent assets. "Cinderella of the Hills," adapted from John Breckenridge Ellis' story "The Little Fiddler of the Ozarks," is said to be a powerful photo-drama.

Howard M. Mitchell, who has directed Shirley Mason in many of her successes, was the director of Miss Bedford's first star picture, making a total of nineteen Mitchell has done under the Fox banner.

MARIE PREVOST IN
"MOONLIGHT FOLLIES"

Marie Prevost in the role of a "baby vamp" comes to the Princess screen tonight for a two days' engagement in "Moonlight Follies," a comedy in which she is to be seen at her brightest and snappiest best. The picture was directed by King Baggot, former screen idol, and in the supporting cast are Clyde Fillmore, Lionel Belmore, Marie Crisp, George Fisher and other popular players. The locale is the country estate of one of New York's "400," and the settings are said to have taxed the resources of the Universal studio, where the picture was filmed.

"ROUGH DIAMOND"

Tom Mix develops new interest in Photoplay at the Yost.

By FRANCES DEANER.
Tom Mix, accompanied by his trick mule and his beautiful, almost human horse, Tony, capered about the Yost silver screen last night to the thorough delight of a house full of tommy fans.

Today, if Mix were to tell us that he intended to make a picture in Mars, we would be inclined to believe him—after last night.

Damon and Pythias, Romeo and Juliet, Jack and Jill, ham and eggs and a host of other twin souls and things, in their identity over the years, have become inseparable. In the same manner cinema patrons have come to consider Tom Mix and his brace of pearl-handled six-shooters. They have been together always, no matter what the theme of the photoplay.

Not only the unexpected, but the unthought-of happens in "The Rough Diamond." Mix has cast away his chaps and his six-shooters and has burst forth as a bold adventurer, a rollicking comedian, a dashing cavalier, a breath-taking daredevil—and—at one stage of the play a female impersonator in the role of a bareback rider in a circus! From all of which it is a simple matter to deduct that "A Rough Diamond" is "some thriller."

If you have any doubt about it—go and see Mix and Tony dive from the end of the pier at Balboa—that's where the water scenes were made. Watch the ship's men grapple for Tony with huge hooks and see them pull the horse out of the ocean and onto the boat. Tony runs neck and neck with Mix for stellar honors throughout the production.

Lovely Eva Novak is the heroine of the play and it is her flashing eyes and bewitching smile that the adventurer follows to the mythical land of Baragavia where he becomes a generalissimo and wins his lady love and a war as well, after spectacular adventures.

"The Rough Diamond" brings us a new Tom Mix—one that takes him out of the routine and oft-times very tiresome western stuff. It is a Tom Mix who reminds me very much of Douglas Fairbanks in the days when he was leaping to the pinnacle of fame in Anita Loos' scenarios—not that Mix in any sense imitates Fairbanks, but there is a spontaneity to his work in "The Rough Diamond" and a new sense of comedy value that gives us a new interest in him.

And that cannibal about which he wrote us—it's a "musical instrument" even the mule laid down on the job when he heard it—but don't take my word for it. See the picture.

NEW SUBDIVISION WILL EMBRACE 144 LOTS

That subdivision of the east half of the old race track property on Fairview and Bristol is proposed as a new residential extension for Santa Ana was disclosed at the city council meeting last night, when C. N. Grace presented a tentative draft of the subdivision for consideration of the council.

The tract is owned by F. H. Kimmel, Grace, who is a real estate agent, is to have exclusive sale of the 144 lots in the tract.

The tract lies south of Fairview avenue and part of it is outside of the city. Extension of Shelton street, south from Fairview is proposed. Owing to possible flood water situations, Grace was directed to confer with Mike Babylon, owner of property between the south line of the subdivision and Endinger street to see if arrangements could not be made to open Shelton through to Endinger. This would offer an outlet for storm waters.

Jay Brooks also presented a map for a subdivision containing sixty-four lots, lying between Flower and Shelton and south of Myrtle. The council approved the sketch and will officially accept the map when it is presented.

TEAR GAS LIBERATION CAUSES MANY TO DAB EYES DURING MEETING

Dry handkerchiefs were much in demand today among members of the Chemistry Research society of the high school.

The reason was that during a meeting of the society last night at the high school a small quantity of "tear gas" was liberated.

The liberation came at the conclusion of a talk that Carson Smith of this city, former chemist in the army and a graduate of the local high school, gave to the society on the history, manufacture, testing, kinds, uses and future of poison gases.

Pictures and gas masks were exhibited, and samples of gases were shown.

T. B. Kelly, faculty adviser of the society and the man to whom the members point as having been largely responsible for the club's success, introduced Smith.

The meeting ended with an oxygen-hydrogen blowpipe demonstration.

Realty Transfers

A. E. Carhart has sold two lots in his Walnut Grove subdivision on Camille to Ernest J. Dobie, who, it is understood, will improve the lots at once.

John Jiles has sold the residence at 1018 Orange avenue to J. J. Maslin. The cottage was erected recently.

Maude M. Tripp has sold 2.65 acres on West Washington to J. M. Stratton, who expects to build.

Byrde F. Clouser has sold a tract of ground west of the Orange county hospital to Clara E. Whitcomb.

GETS JOKE PRESENT

Anticipation of an attractive, though belated Christmas present which came to Earl Abbey, clerk of department 1 of the superior court, when he received a special delivery package of much bulk, were quickly dispelled when he unwrapped it. The package, wrapped in multitudinous quantities of tissue paper, contained the sign, "Probate Calendar," which hangs Fridays outside the court where Abbey labors.

CALL MAYOR AND SCOTT BEFORE GRAND JURY

Mayor J. G. Mitchell and City Attorney G. H. Scott, both of Santa Ana, have been before the grand jury, or a committee of that body, this week, to answer questions concerning the employment by Santa Ana of special counsel.

Possibly other members of the city board of trustees besides Mitchell have been heard by the grand jury. Whether other witnesses in addition Mitchell and Scott have been called could not be ascertained today. Members of the grand jury declined to discuss the matter.

So far as could be determined, the reason for calling the two Santa Ana officials was that the grand jury wanted information as to why the Santa Ana board with a regularly elected city attorney also employs Attorney Clyde Bishop as its advisor and to draw up legal papers having to do with various ordinances and street and bond proceedings.

SPEND BIG SUM FOR NEW MAINS FOR GAS

Expenditure of many thousands of dollars in Orange, Fullerton, Anaheim and other Orange county cities is planned by the Southern Counties Gas company in an effort to provide adequate mains in cities where street improvements are under way or are being proposed.

Several miles of mains are being laid or relaid in Anaheim at this time. From North Palm street to North Lemon street on West Charters street, in Anaheim, the installation has progressed so rapidly that the work is expected to be finished this week.

The plans for Orange call for laying and relaying more than two miles of gas mains, the work to be done prior to paving construction which is planned for that city.

REV. J. A. STEVENSON WILL ADDRESS LIONS

An address by the Rev. J. A. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, instrumental music and possibly selections by a quartette will be the program of the Lions club at St. Ann's luncheon tomorrow at noon. Tomorrow will be the last time the club will meet on Friday; the meeting date having been changed to Thursday of each week. Decision to change the date was made this week by the board of directors following a canvass of the membership.

FORMER SEATTLE MAN BUYS INTEREST HERE

Declaring his belief that Santa Ana is one of the best business centers in the United States, and comparing the city very favorably with many of the larger cities in Southern California, Robert H. Harding, formerly of Seattle, today announced that he has purchased an interest in the business of D. E. Liggett and company and intends to make his home here in the future.

Harding, who specializes in lumber, cement, roofing paper, screens, doors, paints and ready-cut homes, has had extensive experience in Western trade. For many months he represented the Certain-Tied Products company of Los Angeles, which does a large business in Orange county, and prior to this he was Seattle manager for the Automatic Scale company of Detroit.

Harding foresees a bright future for Santa Ana and declared today that he thinks this city will make some wonderful strides forward during the next few years.

STEAMER YALE WILL GO INTO DRY DOCK

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—A change of sailing schedules, effective the coming week, is announced by Ralph J. Chandler, General Manager of the Los Angeles Steamship company, for the coastwise express steamships Yale and Harvard, in order to allow the customary semi-annual lay-up of each of these vessels in turn for the few days necessary for hull cleaning and painting and for the thorough cleaning and redecoration of the passengers' quarters in preparation for the spring business.

Upon her arrival at Los Angeles from San Francisco Sunday the Yale will go onto the dry dock. There will be no sailing to San Francisco on Tuesday of next week, but up to and including January 20, the Harvard will sail from her Wilmington dock, Wednesday, Friday and Monday, arriving in San Francisco the following days and sailing south on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

144 ARRESTS MADE

Nineteen of the 144 arrests that the Santa Ana police department made during December, were for speeding, it was disclosed in a report made by City Marshal Sam Jernigan. Thirty-one of the arrests were for vagrancy, seven for drunkenness, two for burglary and three runaways.

DISMISS FORECLOSURE LIEN

Suit to foreclose a lien on property at Huntington Beach was dismissed today by M. Salas, plaintiff in the action, in which Charles W. Huffman was defendant. The lien had been filed on property on account of street improvements.

President Harding Says "Study the Bible"

"I HAVE always believed in the inspiration of the Holy Scriptures," wrote President Harding, "whereby they have become the expression to men of the word and will of God. I believe that from every point of view the study of the Bible is one of the most worthy to which men may devote themselves, and that in proportion as they know and understand it, their lives and their actions will be better."

America's greatest men from Washington to Harding—presidents, statesmen, generals—have found in the Bible a source of inspiration and strength.

The greatest lay interpreter of the Bible today is one of America's outstanding figures—WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

MR. BRYAN is known the country over as a lecturer on Biblical subjects. For several years past, at his winter home in Florida, he has led the largest Bible class in America, composed of five thousand people of every creed and faith from all over America.

Now, at the request of a large group of newspapers representing every section of the country, that agree with President Harding that study of the Bible "is one of the most worthy objects to which men may devote themselves," MR. BRYAN is going to lead what will be by far the largest Bible class the world has ever known.

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talks

Will appear exclusively every Saturday in the Daily Register, beginning Saturday, January 7th.

THE BRYAN BIBLE TALKS are inspired, commonsense Talks on the teachings of the Bible and their practical application to every day, Twentieth Century life. They are written not only for Church members, Men's Bible classes, Sunday school teachers and pupils, and others interested in religious work, but for all who recognize in the Bible a source of inspiration and help.

Read WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN'S WEEKLY BIBLE TALKS. You will find that they will stimulate and renew your contact with the Bible and its wonderful lessons. Every Saturday, beginning November 5th, exclusively in

COUNTY BASKETBALL TEAMS ON EDGE FOR FIRST GAMES OF ORANGE LEAGUE

Capistrano Five to Play Poly Here Friday Afternoon; Practice Clashes Have Put Squads in Good Condition for Hard Season

Orange county league basketball teams were today indulging in final practice games before the opening of the league schedule tomorrow. From present indications it is going to be a merry race, with little in the way of handicap to be given by any aggregation. The betting is practically even, with the fans all rooting for their home town five.

The local team has defeated the El Monte aggregation and the Anaheim five. Down at Huntington Beach the fans are bemoaning a 36 to 6 defeat at the hands of Compton. Fullerton boasts of wins over several Los Angeles county aggregations, while Tustin has nailed San Juan in a pre-schedule game.

The Orange rooters are not saying much, but they are watching Coach H. M. Davis at work with the hopefuls, and will do doubt be prepared for the utterance of a word or two when the occasion requires.

Tustin plays in Whittier tomorrow afternoon, Garden Grove, with her second team, which is the only one entering the field, will set out for Huntington Beach, to meet Coach Ray Walker's charges. Glenn Lewis, Fullerton, high school mentor, will herd his huskies together and set out for Orange. The San Juan Capistrano lads are preparing to meet Coach Morrison's five on the local high school court. The Missionites claim to have the jump on the Poly hoopers in the matter of practice and training.

Tomorrow's games will scarcely find the entrants in fit condition. The holidays and their mild dissipation have had effect, and the lack of practice is also a factor which will prevent the exhibition of the finished brand of ball to be looked for later.

THY THROWS REUBEN
PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 5.—Ted Thy, wrestling instructor at the Multnomah amateur athletic club here and claimant of the professional middleweight wrestling championship of the world, last night defeated Ben Reuben, of Chicago, after an hour and six minutes of wrestling of a two-hour limit match.

TUSTIN HIGH TEAM DEFEAT K. P. FIVE

TUSTIN, Jan. 5.—Coach Lyons' high school five showed a thing or two to the old-timers who constituted the Tustin Knights of Pythias team, in a game yesterday afternoon which was won by the schoolboys, 28 to 5.

Lack of practice and consequent lack of team work brought about the defeat of the Knights. The high school lads pulled together and just naturally walked away from the older brethren.

The score at the end of the first half was 10 to 3. Throughout the game the K. P. team failed to score from the scrimmage, their entire five points resulting from baskets on fouls, called by Referee John McKittrick.

YANKS LOOK LIKE WINNERS OF 1922 FLAG; GIANTS FACING REAL FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—If San Johnson asked waivers on the American league pennant, it probably would go to the New York Yanks.

Other club owners around the circuit are practically unanimous in the opinion that the team of Miller Huggins has sewed up the race before it starts.

With a pitching staff consisting of Carl Mays, Waite Hoyt, Joe Bush, Sam Jones, Harry Harper and Lefty O'Doul, it looks like the Yankees are out to "do" a Baltimore from the opening day.

Huggins, of course, will be handicapped until May 20 when Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel will get into their first game, but with a pitching staff like that many managers will say that it is a trivial worry about Ruth.

Toward the end of the last pennant race it looked like the St. Louis Browns would be the real rival of the Yanks in 1922 and the club from down the river still looks good, especially if Dave Danforth comes through.

The Cleveland Indians took a long shot from the distance. Stuff

MAJOR LEAGUES TO OPEN ON APRIL 12, CLOSE OCTOBER 1

FRENCH LICK, (Ind.) Jan. 5.—April 12 was selected as the opening date for the American and National baseball leagues at a meeting of the schedule committee here yesterday. The season will end October 1, the schedule calling for 155 games.

The schedule committee which completed its work yesterday was made up of Presidents Heydler of the National league and Johnson of the American league, William Haridge, secretary of the American league, and Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh club of the National league.

WILSON LOSES RING EARNING ON WALL ST.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 5.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, is "broke," according to reports being circulated here today.

Wilson, according to the story, lost $50,000 speculating in Wall street and has nothing left but the home in New York he bought for his mother.

Marty Killea, his manager, has been asked to get him a bout with Mike Gibbons or some one, for he needed cash.

In addition to being "broke," Wilson also faces a possible suspension by the Massachusetts boxing commission, because of his refusal to meet Harry Greb of Pittsburgh in a bout announced for next month.

REDLANDS TO STAGE BIG RELAY CARNIVAL

REDLANDS, Jan. 5.—The A. A. U. relay carnival is to be held on the University of Redlands track this year, according to an announcement made yesterday by Lloyd Young, athletic manager at the university. The carnival will be on February 13 and will attract all the college and high school running stars south of the Tehachas.

The relay carnival is the most spectacular event of the track season for there are only running races and hurdle races in the carnival.

WILL START WORK ON YANK'S PARK MARCH 1
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Ground for the new baseball park of the Yanks will be broken March 1 if construction bids, now being received, are satisfactory, Col. T. L. Huston announced yesterday.

The park will be located on the Harlem river within sight of the Polo grounds.

DAVIS COURT THROWN
KANSAS CITY, (Mo.) Jan. 5.—Joe Stoecher of Nebraska, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, defeated Nick Daviscourt, of Baboia, Calif., here last night in two falls.

McInnis will fill a long felt want at first base, but his price was high, as Speaker had to get rid of Elmer Smith, the hero of the 1920 world's series and a great outfielder.

None of the other clubs look like they have a chance to bother the Yanks.

While New Yorkers are confident that the Yanks will repeat, they are not as optimistic about the Giants. The fans who say the St. Louis Cardinals making their late dash through the National league last season know that McGraw has a job on his hands to repeat.

In most of the major league cities, the acquisition of Heinie Groh was regarded as pennant buying by the Giants, but the Polo grounds bugs do not think so. In fact, the opinion is expressed that the Giants were weakened by the deal and that they are not as strong as they were before the last race started.

The bugs are having a hard time reconciling themselves to the loss of George Burns and they are not pleased with the idea of benching little Johnny Rawlings after the great work he did with the club last season.

Carp's Foe

George Cook, Australian heavyweight champion, is training faithfully for his fight with Georges Carpentier in London a few weeks hence.

FEARS LOSS OF GOOD HORSES TO ENGLAND

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A warning that England would not be able to retain her supremacy as the home of the world's greatest thoroughbreds unless adequate stakes were provided on the race course and adequate inducements made to breeders, was contained in an address delivered by Lord D'Abernon, speaking as president, at the annual meeting of the Thoroughbred Breeders' association, at Newmarket.

As long as enormous prizes were attracting horses abroad with no adequate counter-balance in this country, the best stallions and mares would assuredly be lost to England, D'Abernon declared.

Great Britain has not been very fortunate lately, he said, in retaining championships, but the championship of the best horses in the world they certainly would not surrender without a vigorous effort and without doing what they could by skill, by knowledge and by scientific preparation to retain it.

D'Abernon hoped that, without any idea of prescription or boycott, horse breeders in general would see to it that exceptional liberality on the part of the race course executives was rewarded by exceptional support. He expressed confidence that the result of the operations of the new committee appointed by the Jockey club would be immensely beneficial.

37 MEN TAKE PART IN COURT CONTEST

Twenty-three Fullerton high school players defeated fourteen Norwalk high school hoopers in a practice basketball contest at Fullerton yesterday afternoon, 28 to 14.

The first teams of each school started the game, but after about ten minutes of play each coach made substitutions. Coach Glenn Lewis of Fullerton played about four teams before finishing the game. He used all of his first, second and 130-pound aggregations, while the Norwalk coach made use of all of his men.

The score at the end of the first half was 13 to 2 in favor of the home team. The second half started with the two first teams playing again, but this state of affairs did not exist for long and soon the substitutes were in the scrimmage again.

Coach Lewis was far from satisfied with the showing made by his men, he stated this morning. However he plans to give the lads another heavy workout this afternoon in preparation for the opening league contest with Orange tomorrow, and he expressed the belief that they would have "come around by that time."

This afternoon the Fullerton high school 130 and 110 pound teams can contain the Orange five of the same avoidpools.

THREE POLY STARS WILL ENTER U. S. C.

California Draws Cock and Bell; LeBard and Finn Pick Pomona

The University of Southern California will claim at least three members of the prep school championship team which represented Poly on the gridiron last year, unless there is a change in the plans of the lads.

A canvass of the players who will graduate this year, showed the above to be true. Contrary to reports emanating from Los Angeles, to the effect that all of the All-Southern athletes were to enroll in the University of California, only two local players, Captain Bart Cock and Calvin Bell have announced their intention of attending U. of C.

U. S. C. will claim Newell "Jeff" Cravath, the star center, and unanimous choice for the All-Southern berth, Newton Stark star end, also an All-Southern man, and Harold Knight, Baiboa lad who played left half back in a stellar manner during the past season.

Pomona college, Coach "Spud" Morrison's alma mater will claim two of the lads, who evidently have desires to emulate the "little wonder man" in gridiron achievement. Harry LeBard, All-Southern tackle, intends to attend the Sagelian school, while Walton Finn, a less well known substitute, will accompany him.

Newell Stevens, a recent arrival at Poly, who made his presence felt at tackle on various occasions, will grace Stanford with his presence, according to a statement from that young man.

David Metz, an energetic substitute, will sign up at California Technical Institute, while Bronson Buntion, another substitute, has chosen Oregon Aggie.

Hubert Armstrong, right end and letter man, will not continue his education after graduation this spring. Don Williams, right halfback, has already left school, and will not return to attend college.

SHORTSTOP McCANN SOLD TO PORTLAND

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—Robert E. McCann, shortstop belonging to the Philadelphia American league club, has been sold to the Portland team of the Pacific Coast league. McCann has played in the Virginia and International leagues.

HEINIE GROH SIGNS NEW YORK CONTRACT

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Heinie Groh is now a full-fledged member of the New York National League Baseball club, which gave the Cincinnati Reds a cash bonus of from $50,000 to $100,000 for him. Groh signed a two-year contract at the Giants' office yesterday. Manager McGraw refused to state the salary.

PHILLIES PICK LEESBURG.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—The Philadelphia National League baseball club announced yesterday that Manager Wilhelm, fifteen pitchers and three catchers would report for spring training at Leesburg, Fla., March 1.

ROMANOFF DEFEATED
NEWTON, (Kan.) Jan. 5.—Clarence Elliott of Newton defeated Billy Romanoff, claimant of the middleweight wrestling championship on the Pacific coast, in straight falls in their match here last night.

CONGRESSMAN FREE LEAVES FOR CAPITAL

SAN JOSE, Jan. 5.—Congressman Arthur Free left here for Washington.

"I came West with the immigration committee to study questions of immigration and we have learned a great number of things," said Free. "We are now planning to introduce a new immigration bill in which the question of relationship will be dealt with. We have found that under the present law families are frequently separated and we plan to correct that fault under the new bill."

OAKDALE LIFTS BAN ON ALL NIGHT DANCES

OAKDALE, Jan. 5.—The city trustees have decided to remove the ban from public dances in Oakdale, and the order requiring the dances to be closed at 1 o'clock has been rescinded. The order was issued originally because of the fact that all night dances were advertised here, and the management of the local hall catered to questionable characters from other towns. The American Legion has taken over the management of the big pavilion and has guaranteed that the dances will be conducted properly in the future.

FULLERTON COACHES GIVING TRACK TEAM ASPIRANTS WORKOUT

FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—With basketball started, Fullerton high school and junior college athletes are turning their attention to track and field stunts this week in preparation for the opening of the track season.

This week the prospective candidates were engaged in taking the kinks out of their muscles, and in general limbering up processes. There is said to be an abundance of material at the Oil city high school and in the junior college, and the coaches are hopeful of developing some stellar performers.

Next week work will start in earnest. A call will be issued and candidates run through their paces to determine where they will best fit. Coach will then occupy themselves in developing the men in preparation for the first meet with Santa Ana, February 24 here.

Other Fullerton dates announced are March 1, Orange at Orange; March 17, Anaheim at Fullerton; March 24, Huntington Beach at Huntington Beach.

YANKS PROSPER BY DEALS WITH BOSTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—In Boston they call their American league club the "New York" Red Sox.

In a similar vein they refer to the Yanks as the "Boston" Yanks.

It's all the result of the many deals between the two clubs.

The last big swap in which the Yanks took Scott, Jones and Bush away from the Red Sox for Peckinpaugh, Quinn, Piercy and Collins gave the New Yorkers almost an entire Boston team. On the roster of the club, those formerly under allegiance to Harry Frazee are Babe Ruth, Carl Mays, Waite Hoyt, Walter Schang, Mike McNally, Harry Harper, Scott, Bush and Jones.

Former Yanks on the Boston club are Peck, Pratt, Vick Ruel, Walters, Thormahlen, Russell, Quinn, Collins, Piercy and Foster.

Boston thinks that the many deals did nothing but help swell the roll of Frazee and the fact remains that the Yanks are league champions and the Red Sox are second division caliber.

It is an interesting feature of the last deal that the Yanks now have all the pitchers that Ed Borrows used in the 1918 world's series, when the Red Sox were playing the Chicago Cubs.

Ruth won two games in the series and Mays won a pair. Bush finished one of the games credited to Ruth and lost the only one he started. Sam Jones lost his only start also in a close game against Jim Vaughn.

VERDICT TO WAUGH
BREAUMONT (Tex.) Jan. 5.—Bob Waugh of Ft. Worth was an easy winner over Louis Leonard of Seattle in their ten-round bout here last night, according to newspaper men.

HARRAHAN VICTOR

SEATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 5.—Joe Harrahan of Seattle was given the decision over Len Holliday of Vancouver in the main event of a boxing show here last night. According to ring fans, Harrahan won easily.

COAST LEAGUE MANAGER RAPS STAND OF MAJOR MAGNATES IN DRAFT FIGHT

United Press Leased Wire
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Charges that selfish interests alone are back of the demands of major league magnates for the right to draft ball players from the minors, were made today in a statement by Charles Graham, leader of the San Francisco Seals.

He declared the magnates of the majors were not "in court with clean hands," and ridiculed their pleas that they favor the draft because it advances "ball players in their profession."

"They assume that there are only two leagues of any consequence in this country and all the other leagues exist merely to be used for the purposes of the major leagues," Graham said.

He took the position that if the

CALIFORNIAN AFTER BOUT WITH KILBANE

Featherweight Champ Dodging Bout With Babe Herman, Belief

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Babe Herman a little darkskinned Portuguese from California, is being shunned by Johnny Kilbane.

The little featherweight in a short space of time has come to be looked upon as the one that may topple the crown off the head of the Cleveland Irishman. Many who have seen him in action believe that all he has to do is to get Kilbane in the ring but that is a tough job for anyone.

As to the well known acid test, Herman is to meet Andy Chaney, tough Baltimore battler, in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Last winter Kilbane said he considered Chaney the only dangerous man looking for his title. So if Herman gets by with him he looks like the logical choice for a chance with the champion.

For a while, Kilbane, by his refusal to fight, was the champion of unpopular champions, but Johnny Wilson has so far outdistanced the featherweight king that the knockers have almost forgotten the Cleveland fighter.

Wilson has just received another crack with the announcement of the Massachusetts state boxing commission that he is suspended because of his running out on his contract to fight Harry Greb.

PASADENA TO PLAY AT TUSTIN SUNDAY

The Tustin winter league baseball team will entertain the Pasadena nine on the Irvine Boulevard grounds Sunday afternoon, according to an announcement made today.

The Pasadena management claims to have a pennant grabbing aggregation, but Harry Kaiser's followers rise to dispute their claims. The Tustin team will include the following men in the lineup: B. Arambell, ss.; Franklin, lf.; Wentz, 3b.; B. Mitchell, 1b.; R. Mitchell, 2b.; J. Arambell, c.; Lanfranco, cf.; Edwards, rf.; H. Blaholder, p.; W. Edwards, p.

'DRY' LAW VIOLATOR GIVEN JAIL TERM

SAN JOSE, Jan. 5.—Manuel P. George, who yesterday pleaded guilty to violating the county liquor ordinance, was sentenced to serve ten days in the county jail. The sentence was given by Justice Sontheimer and George is the first man to be sentenced to jail under the new ordinance.

SIX VICTROLAS GIVEN DISABLED VETERANS

UKIAH, Jan. 5.—There will be no dearth of music at the Mendocino State hospital for the Insane from now on. The people of Mendocino county presented the ex-service men with two Victrolas and the Knights of Columbus sent four. Great quantities of records were provided also. So large a donation of sweetmeats was made that Superintendent Smith divided the supply in two and there was enough for a fine New Year's offering on hand.

EVENING SALUTATION

"This restless world
Is full of chances, which by habit's power
To learn to bear is easier than to shun."

RESOLVE TO ACHIEVE

Perhaps we do not hear as much concerning New Year's resolutions these days as we used to hear. Most resolutions that are made the first of the year concern personal habits. A man resolves to quit smoking; a woman resolves to be more charitable in her speech. Resolutions of that sort are indeed worth while, but in this editorial resolutions are of a different sort.

Let us each resolve upon some achievement to mark the year 1922 in our lives.

If you have been living in a rented apartment or a rented house month after month, why not at this time resolve that before 1922 passes you will have a home of your own?

Right now is a good time to begin making inquiries concerning just what you can do in a financial way to secure a house and lot. Possibly you have been saying, "There's no use trying." It is one of the things you will never know until you try. With the building and loan, with your personal credit at the bank, with your ability to sacrifice a bit, the chances are that you can start the ownership of a home with far greater ease than you have imagined was possible. Many a young man in Santa Ana has found it so.

Mark 1922 as the year you will have your street paved. Santa Ana has a good many streets that ought to be paved. So far as you personally are concerned, and so far as your street is concerned, rest assured of this; once your street is paved you would not have it returned to its old condition for a great deal more money than the paving cost.

And why not make 1922 the year that you will put your shoulder to the wheel in helping raise your church's debt, or in helping your church to build the addition it needs? Is there any organization with which you are connected that needs your energy and your counsel? Surely, somewhere you will find an opportunity to make this year a year of achievement worth while to you, so that when the next new year arrives you will feel that you have done a good job for some worthy cause.

Now is a very good time to take inventory of your opportunities and abilities. Now is a very good time to resolve to make use of both for the betterment of yourself, your family and your community, and there is no time better than now to turn those resolutions into immediate action.

FORMING ENGLISH CLUBS

In many cities in Czechoslovakia today, according to news dispatches and private reports, there are organizations known as "English Clubs." The club at Prague has a membership of over 500; others are only a little smaller.

The members of these clubs are not Americans or Englishmen sojourning in Czechoslovakia. They are native citizens who want to know about the United States and England for the purpose of helping their own land. They study not only our language, but our government and our literature. They very earnestly desire friendship between their country and ours and frankly seek the help which such friendship will mean.

The government is giving its support to the clubs and has shown its approval of their purpose by establishing a private school where English is the only language taught. As these students learn to speak and read and write our language, they are to start a correspondence exchange with students in this country, preferably in our colleges.

These clubs are only one of many indications of the seriousness and progressiveness of the new Czechoslovakia republic. What that nation will be ten years from now is a matter of very hopeful speculation.

HIRE THE GROWN-UPS

If the children who are now working in the mines, factories, quarries, farms and other industrial establishments of the United States were taken from their jobs and put into school where they belong, 1,500,000 jobs would be left open for adults.

Secretary of Labor Davis has pointed out this fact to the people of America and has issued an earnest appeal to the employers of child labor to supplant the children, in so far as can be done, with adults, "preferably those having dependents." Mr. Davis urges this in justice to the children as well as to the adult unemployed.

It is a disgrace to America in any industrial situation that 1,500,000 children who should be in school are at work instead. Every such child represents a direct economic loss to his parents and to the country as a whole, as well as being a pitiful example of inhumanity in a humane land.

The unemployment problem has been attacked from all sides. Few suggested solutions are as full of possibilities for the common good as this of Secretary Davis, asking that the child be put back into school where he belongs and that wage-earning be turned over to the adult whose natural function it is.

A TREATY RATIFIED

The Colombian Congress has finally ratified the treaty with the United States whereby this country is to pay $25,000,000 compensation claimed by Colombia in connection with the revolt of Panama and the Panama Canal deal. So ends, if not happily, at least tolerably, a long and troublesome dispute.

It is 18 years since the northern peninsula end of Colombia now known as Panama, set up for itself and sold the United States the permanent rights to a five-mile strip for an inter-oceanic canal. It is seven years since that canal was finished and opened to traffic. All this time the controversy has dragged. Colombia insisting that the United States was responsible for the loss of Panama and the United States denying the charge and seeking, by various ways, to mollify the complainant.

The present settlement, admittedly a compromise, probably settles the matter as satisfactorily as it can be settled. There is no more profit in discussing the issues involved. If Colombia had no legitimate grievance, Colombia thought she had, and in that belief she was upheld by most of Latin-America. The dispute now ended has long been the chief remaining obstacle to progress in our Pan-American relations and our Latin neighbors' frank acceptance of the Monroe Doctrine. We should now be able to get along better with all of them.

IRISH PEOPLE FOR PEACE

A telegraphic canvass of twenty-six counties of southern Ireland is said to have indicated that if the treaty with Britain were put to vote it would be accepted by not less than 90 per cent of the voters. This expression of popular sentiment is being placed before the Dail Eireann in the form of letters, telegrams and resolutions from people of all classes. It should hasten acceptance of the treaty by the Dail.

There is nothing surprising in the report. It simply indicates that the people of Ireland, like the people of the rest of the world, want peace and are willing to make concessions to get it, realizing that it cannot be had without concessions.

It is a frame of mind to which too many leaders, however, remain blind, not only in Ireland but elsewhere.

The Spirit of the West

San Francisco Chronicle
Who shall say that love for the west and reverence for its traditions are growing less strong in the hearts of the American people?

One so blind or so ill informed as to have entertained such a thought would have done well a few days ago to have attended Seattle's public reception to Ezra Meeker, on the occasion of the pioneer's ninety-first birthday.

Literally tens of thousands of men and women who still cherish in song and story the deeds of an earlier generation were glad to honor the man who helped to blaze a trail into the Puget sound country, coming by way of the Oregon trail with an ox team sixty-eight years ago.

To Ezra Meeker belongs the distinction of having been among the first few hundreds of men who crossed the American continent by ox team. This was in 1852.

In 1906, at the age of 76, the veteran plainsman again drove a yoke of steers and prairie schooner from his home in Washington across the country to New York. He was the guest of President Roosevelt in Washington, D. C., and his quaint equipage attracted attention in cities and towns across the continent.

Many are the stories told of Meeker's exploits and unflinching thoughtfulness for the welfare of others. An incident worthy of notice occurred during the World War when the eighty-seven-year-old patriot planted a garden from which he realized $287, which he turned over to the Red Cross.

He is among the last of those hardy souls whose faith and works made possible the glorious west of today. We rejoice with Seattle in doing honor to this pioneer and to the memory of those who came with him in an earlier day.

International Education

Riverside Press
If plans now being formed are completed, it is likely that the United States will be host to an international education conference in 1923. It will be held under the auspices of the National Education association. President Harding has already been asked to extend an invitation to all the powers represented at the arms conference, and other nations will be invited later.

The association aims to follow up the work of arms conference by developing among the children of each nation right attitude toward the other nations.

The possibilities for good of such a conference are great. The civilized world, with all its boasted progress and advancement, has already begun to work in the field of true education. Right education should develop an appreciation of the value and the inherited gifts of other nations. It should foster a greater tolerance of the rights and privileges of individual nations and an appreciation of the common good of all. It is just these things in the lives of individuals which makes for peaceable, friendly neighborhoods.

Some of the means proposed to achieve these ends are obviously needed reforms such as the organization of textbook material to give unbiased, accurate accounts of the history and present mode of life of different nations. For the same purpose educators urge a freer exchange of scholarships and teachers among foreign lands, the teaching of international civics and a program looking to universal education.

If it succeeds in waking nations to the utilization of this dynamic force of education, the proposed conference will be of the utmost importance.

On Taking a Stroll

Visalia Delta
Says the Westerly, R. L. Sun, "If you want to be glad that you live right here in Westerly, and not in some other place, just take a stroll off on some one of the hills about town one of these crisp, early winter days."

The object of this comment is not to cast any slighting remarks on the climate or views of Westerly, but to emphasize one of the secrets for being glad that you are alive in Westerly or anywhere else—take a stroll "off on the hills," or down on the flats, or somewhere else out of doors, every day.

New England's hill-top air and views are fine. So are the air and the long, flat distances of the prairie countries, and those of the fresh and friendly woods of the Middle West. The mountains and seashores pour out riches of health and beauty for those who seek them. Thoreau found recreation, something new to think about and plenty of ozone, in just rambling and gazing along the shining level of the railroad track near Walden, Mass.

It doesn't make so much difference where you stroll, or what you see. It's getting out under the open sky that keeps people glad to live anywhere.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

STARTING ALL OVER AGAIN

Much of life is a series of set-backs. The boy works. The young man works. The grown man works. Then there comes a day when his harvest fields bear in abundance. He builds a fine home.

Hardly does he open its halls before fire destroys it to the ground! What does he do? Give up? Oh, no! His is not that kind of a make-up. The very next morning he RE-builds—as Edison did a few years ago, before the ashes were yet cold.

History is full of instances where Fame didn't even smile until the white sheets of Winter had well arrived.

Starting all over again is no disgrace, no matter how old you are or how miserable your failure may look to you.

The only disgrace is—not to start all over!

When it comes right down to facts, we are all perpetual "start-overs."

Each day finds us with the memory of lost hopes and unachieved aims like broken vases scattered at our feet. But we must walk beyond them.

Try to feed upon fresh resolves—until they nourish your soul into a being that is not afraid.

Yes, start all over again—today! Map out new plans. You will find a thrill in that process alone.

It is much better to have lost yesterday—and won today, than to have won yesterday—and lost today.

Worth While Verses

THE DAWN OF PEACE

Put off, put off your mail, O kings,
And beat your brands to dusts!
Your hands must earn a surer grasp,
Your hearts a better trust.

Oh, bend aback the lance's point,
And break the helmet bar;
A noise is in the morning wind
But not the note of war.

Upon the grassy mountain paths
The glittering hosts increase—
They come! They come! How fair their feet
They come to publish peace.

And victory, fair victory,
Our enemies are ours!
For all the clouds are clasped in light,
And all the earth with flowers.

Aye, still depressed and dim with dew;
But wait a little while,
And with the radiant deathless rose
The wilderness shall smile.

And every tender, living thing
Shall feed by streams of rest;
Nor lamb shall from the flock be lost,
Nor nursing from the nest.

—John Ruskin.

Pointed Paragraphs

Money may not make the man, but a little thing like that doesn't worry the man who makes the money.

Time to Smile

DROPPING THE PILOT.

Mr. Oldtimer, Miss Knowall and Miss Wise stood at the rail of an outgoing steamer as it slowed up to let the pilot off.

"Why are we stopping?" asked Miss Knowall.

The obliging Oldtimer replied, "To drop the pilot."

"Why are they letting him go?" Miss Wise wondered.

"Another case of incompetency, I suppose," Miss Knowall suggested.

"Well, it's lucky the captain found him out right away, before we got any further into deep water," and Miss Wise heaved a deep sigh of relief.

HEALTH

SOMETHING ABOUT HOW TO KEEP WELL

AVOID POISONING

Some care and common sense easily would avert most cases of accidental poisoning.

All poisonous medicines are so labeled by the druggist or physician. If the user transfers a poison from one bottle to another, he should also transfer the label.

The top-shelf of the medicine cabinet is a good place to keep poisons. Here they should be beyond reach of children.

Most poison bottles nowadays are provided with prickly stoppers so they may be identified in the dark. But the best safeguard of all is to tie the cork in the bottle so that to get it off requires light and a few minutes' time.

Delay in poisoning is usually disastrous. A doctor should be summoned immediately but while awaiting his arrival, first aid should be given.

Administration of an emetic is the first thing to be done. Ticking the throat with finger or feather or drinking a large quantity of warm water will usually induce vomiting.

In case of poisoning from corrosive poisons an emetic is not the best treatment. Corrosive poisons are sulphuric acid, hydrochloric acid, nitric acid, caustic soda, potash and lime.

Treatment for this sort of poisoning should be: Neutralize the poison by giving an alkali as soda or soap for acid poisoning and strong fruit juices containing acid for alkali poisoning. Give a large quantity of some vegetable or animal oil, as olive oil or castor oil, to dilute and soothe the burned inner parts. Finally give stimulants, as strong tea or coffee or aromatic spirits of ammonia.

PREVENT TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis is by no means a new disease. It was known in earliest history. Its origin is understood thoroughly and yet the advancement of medical science has not brought a specific, therapeutic cure.

Instead, the disease has increased with the progress of civilization. Creature comforts and artificial aids of civilization have given tuberculosis more chance to work. It is almost a house or indoor infection, rarely or never caught outdoors.

We know that this disease can be prevented. The great work of the national and local anti-tuberculosis societies, which are even now waging a battle with the little Christmas seals as their weapons, has taught us that the disease can be arrested and in many cases cured by fresh air, cleanliness, rest, wholesome food and a determination to get well.

We know that the germ is present in millions in the spit of a consumptive and that it is through this spit alone most that the germ reaches others. We know that if we could collect and destroy all the spit of such patients and make them cover their mouths when they cough we could almost wipe out the disease.

Although the disease is no respecter of persons, attacking rich and poor alike, it is found that more poor people have the disease than others. This is because the wealthy are better able to protect themselves against it, better able to undergo rest and other essentials of the treatment which is now the only remedy.

Knowing that prevention will do a great deal more good than costly attempts at cures we should all make every effort to stop careless spitting and coughing.

Learning to Be Unafraid

Kansas City Star

"Am I afraid? I don't know what fear is," said an old lady, past 70, the other night as she left some friends to enter her dark bungalow, where she has lived alone for many years. This old lady had taught herself to be unafraid; experience had aided in the instruction. When a child she had feared the dark, as most children do. This fear was outgrown, as is usually the case; also the fear of living alone and of entering a house alone at night, which is not usually outgrown. And this particular old lady had come to be unafraid of many things, all through the necessities her experience had brought.

There are two kinds of fear, physical and mental. This old lady had become devoid of physical fear. Both kinds are born of darkness, either the darkness of childhood and lack of knowledge, or the darkness of superstition, adult ignorance and downright cowardice. Both types of fear may be overcome. The progress of the individual or the race depends upon the degree to which they are outgrown at any time.

With some exceptions, there is no longer a premium on physical bravery. Conditions of living have changed and advancement or survival, especially of the individual, depends less on being physically fearless than was once the case.

Hence, the opprobrium that once carried with the word "coward" has lost some of its sting.

But there still is a place for the word "coward," a place that ought to increase rather than diminish in proportions. The coward of today is the mental, the intellectual coward, the man or woman who is afraid of new facts until they are illuminated so that even a child may see them. It is the person fearful of the uncertainty or darkness that surrounds the push forward and the adventure that must determine progress; who wishes to hold the hand of tradition or keep in the daylight of accepted things, and who will not wrestle with anything new or enter combat without plenty of company.

Training today is directed to the improvement both of the mind and body. There is insistence upon physical development not for the sake of that development alone or altogether for the sake of preparation for physical combat, but because the developed body aids the developed mind. There is double opportunity then for overcoming fear, in formal training and out. There is double reason, also, why the person who does not learn to be unafraid should be considered a coward, despicable as to any to whom the term has been applied.

CHAPTER 234

Peter Rabbit Asks Forgiveness
BY HARVEY ELLIOTT

Peter Rabbit's conscience hurt him a good deal for the way he had treated Billy Bear. Of course it wasn't any worse than Billy Bear treated him, but still he didn't feel just right about it.

Peter stuck his head out of the old brush-heap to watch what would happen when Billy got hold of the hornets' nest. As he saw Billy running by, chased by all those mad hornets, and as he heard Billy yelp when a big hornet would hit him in the face, tail first, Peter Rabbit felt like crying. Yes, sir, he just felt like crying, for he saw what a mean thing he had done in getting Billy to stir up the hornets' nest.

It was two days before Peter and Billy met again. Peter didn't have the face to meet him and so kept away. But his conscience got to hurting him so badly that he just had to get relief somehow.

So on the second day Peter hopped up to Buster Bear's home in search of Billy. He found him rolling on the grass in the back yard. He saw that Billy had a real case of the swollen head. If Peter had the mumps on one side, Billy Bear sure had them on both. But Peter didn't "rub it in."

"Good morning, Billy Bear," said Peter, with a trembling voice. "I've just come over to tell you I'm sorry."

"Sorry for what?" asked Billy.

"Why, for getting you into that hornets' nest. I did it for a joke, but I've been thinking how awfully mean it was in me to do it. Will you forgive me?"

It never till then dawned on Billy Bear that Peter had done that thing on purpose. But it was all plain now. Peter knew it was a hornets' nest all the time. He had done it to get even for that Bumble-bee trick he had played on Peter. Billy Bear began to feel ashamed, too. It was worse for him because he was so much bigger than Peter Rabbit.

"Now you just never mind that," Peter Rabbit said Billy Bear. "I only got what was coming to me. It was mean to you first. I got you into the Bumble-bee's nest and the Hornets' nest was what I got in return. I have learned my lesson, Peter. I was just as bad as you and I am ready to forgive you if you will forgive me and we'll make up and be good friends again."

Peter Rabbit felt that a great burden had rolled off his heart. He did love Billy Bear and he was so happy to think that Billy had forgiven him and would still be his friend. Billy Bear also loved Peter Rabbit and he, in spite of his swollen face and eyes, loved him all the more because he was humble enough to ask his forgiveness.

"The people we love the most are the ones who are not too proud to say, 'I have done wrong and I am sorry.'"

A man may if he knows not how to save as he gets, keep his nose all his life to the grindstone and die not worth a groat at last.

Little Bennis's Note Book

By Lee Pope

I finished my book of Sherlock Holmes stories yesterday and ma came home from down town and she put her packdges on the hall rack and wawked back to the kitchen without seeing me in the parlor, and I quick looked in the packdges and snuck out and ran around and went in the back way and wawked in the kitchen saying, Hello ma, I see you've bin buying ribbons down town.

Wy, how do you know wat I bawt, you jest came in the back way and haven't even seen the packdges, sed ma.

I deduct it, its very simple, I know you bawt ribbons by the peculiar little spots on the frunt of your dress, I sed.

My goodness, wat spots, I dont see any spots, and anyway, wat spots got to do with ribbons? sed ma, and I sed, Ah, its very simple, only you dont see it, madam, and I also deduct you have a big hole in your stocking.

Wat nonsense, I cant gess how you know I bawt ribbons, but I certainly have no hole in my stocking, if theres one thing I never do its to go out with a hole in my stocking, sed ma, and I sed, But madam its very simple, I deduct you have a hole in your stocking by the ink stane on your waist.

Wat ink stane, for mersy sake I dont see any ink stane, theres no ink stane, I want you to stop sutch crazy talk, but I cant imagine how you know I bawt ribbons because I didnt even intend to buy them wen I started.

Its very simple madam, I sed, and so is the hole in your stocking, and ma sed, Now stop that, I tell you I have no hole in my stocking.

Then how did you get your foot in? I sed. Being a old joak but not to ma, and she chased me out of the kitchen, but she still dont know how I deducted about the ribbons.
